Balance of Power in Township Hinges on Tuesday's Election

I'm running for Borough Council."

"Running for Borough what?"

It's not quite that bad. But heavy concentration on the gubernatorial race, plus a lack of sharp issues in both Princetons, have combined to make one of the quietest local elections in years.

In fact, one local candidate, asked to define more sharply the differences between the two parties, said yes indeed there are differences, but they are subtle ones, a question of nuance....

In Princeton Township, voters will choose two new members of Committee. The two incumbents whose terms expire decided not to run again.

In Princeton Township, the form of government is different from that in the Borough. The mayor is chosen by Committee members from their own number and is traditionally the senior member of the majority party.

At present, with a 3-2 Republican majority, the mayor is Republican Josie Hall. If only one Republican is elected on Tuesday, the 3-2 majority will be the same and presumably Mrs. Hall will continue in the mayor's seat.

If both Democrats are elected, the balance will shift and a Democrat—probably Committee member David Blair—will become mayor.

Republican candidates are William Cherry and Thomas Haber. Democratic candidates are David Klein and Kate Litvack.

In the Borough, it's a non-mayoralty year. Here also, two seats are at stake. Two Democratic incumbents on Council, Nelson van den Blink and Leona Medvin, are seeking re-election. Their Republican challengers are John Reid and Priscilla Waring.

The fact that the campaign has not been a sharp one doesn't mean the town is without problems. The Borough has to decide what to do about parking garages. Should the rent-levelling ordinance be continued and if so, in what form? Can revaluation be accomplished without too much agony?

The Township—and in this case, the Borough also, because they share a joint Planning Board—faces crucial decisions about guiding its growth after the sewer moratorium has been completely lifted. What kind of housing, for whom and how much? Should commercial rateables be invited in, and if so where, and what kind?

In the past week or so, the alarming possibility of a four-lane Route 206 has linked Borough and Township with other towns in the area in strong opposition to the state. However, what seems to be a clarifying statement from a highway official (see "Topics of the Town") has calmed this alarm somewhat.

Expand 206 to Four Lanes Through Princeton? Whatever Gave You That Idea, State Now Says

Was it all just a misunderstanding? All that about making a four-lane highway out of Route 206?

Donald Goodkind, assistant commissioner of highways for New Jersey's Department of Transportation, says the state doesn't plan to widen Route 206 as it goes through Princeton -- first as State Road, then as Bayard Lane, Stockton Street and the Lawrenceville Road.

"I think we gave the public the wrong message and I hold myself responsible," is Mr. Goodkind's statement.

The official, who attended last week's gathering of protesting officials and residents from four communities, didn't say that to the audience at the time.

Mr. Goodkind, Edwin Dayton, assistant chief engineer for the DOT, and some observers, think it may all be a confusion of engineering and bureaucratic language.

Harsh-Sounding Word. "Dualization," a word frequently used during the discussions, is engineering-ese for making a road a divided highway. It sounds worse than what the state actually wants to do, Mr. Goodkind has suggested.

Like others at last week's meeting, Mr. Goodkind now points out that it just isn't "common sense" to dualize (whatever they may turn out to mean) Route 206 in the Princeton community.

"There is no way we can see that will ever be done," Mr. Dayton says.

However, Mr. Goodkind is talking only about Princeton. Other parts of Route 206, he says, between Princeton and Somerville may well be dualized, and this could still bring about what Princeton's two mayors regard as a disaster: a four-lane highway funneling down to two lanes at the Montgomery - Princeton line.

Also, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley has protested the state's plan to use the junction of Route 206 and Route 27 -- Bayard and Nassau -- as the southern terminal of any Route 206 study. Such an Environmental Impact Study is required under Federal law.

"You must have logical termini for a study," Mr. Dayton explains, "and the state feels Route 27 is a logical southern terminal. We'll investigate the possibility of a widening in that area, but it doesn't appear feasible that we ever could do a widening in the Princeton area. We DO have to do the study."

The Middlesex - Somerset - Mercer Regional Study Council has asked the state to expand its study to include a 92-A bypass around Princeton, and consideration of land use. The kind of broad, regional study asked for by MSM doesn't seem likely. Mr. Goodkind says that it is impossible to study everything.

He has also explained the study as a way of protecting the public from bureaucrats who might try to "improve" Route 206.

NEW POLICE RADIO?

Ordinance for Hearing. A new Ultra High Frequency police radio system will be provided for the Township under a $44,000 bond ordinance up for public hearing this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall. The Township must apply to the Princeton Regional Planning Board for a conditional use variance in order to install the necessary tower behind Borough Hall.

In a light agenda, Committee will decide whether to lease the old sewer plant to the Systech company, which wants to take industrial waste to the old plant for processing.

Public Service's application for a rate increase will be discussed and Committee will decide what action to take.

OFF TO THE FIRE

New Truck to Be Ordered. A new fire truck costing around $77,000 will be ordered by the Borough after passage of an ordinance to be introduced at Council's November meeting next Wednesday, November 9. The usual second-Tuesday date has been changed because Election Day falls on the second Tuesday.

Council will also adopt a new personnel policy for municipal employees. It will include, for the first time, an affirmative action section.

The Landmarks ordinance is under study by a joint Borough-Township team consisting of Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Township Mayor Josie Hall and Council and Committee members Gus Escher and Hugo Hoogenboom. Working with them are municipal attorney Gordon Griffin and Constance Greiff of the Historic Sites Commission.

Council will work over these matters at its public agenda session this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

NEW LAWS READIED

For Moped Operators. The lack of restrictions governing moped operators is about to end.

New moped legislation, which will take effect January 16, 1978, requires all operators to have a valid driver's license or a motorized bicycle license. The latter will be issued by the Director of Motor Vehicles to anyone 15 or older after he has passed a test which will include knowledge of traffic laws, mechanism of the moped and ability to operate. Licenses are obtainable from the Division of Motor Vehicles. Those 15 or older may obtain a permit which allows unsupervised operation for 45 days during daylight hours. The valid license or permit must be in the possession of the operator at all times.

The new law also stipulates that each moped owner carry liability insurance, report all accidents and not carry passengers. Mopeds are not allowed to operate on interstate or public highways or highways with speed limits in excess of 50 m.p.h., or on any public land where expressly prohibited.

Woman Talks Man Out of Attempted Rape; Case Is Third Reported in as Many Weeks

A 21-year old Princeton woman was able to talk her way out of an attempted rape Friday as she was walking on Littlebrook Road near the intersection of Rollingmead.

The description of her assailant--black male, 6-2 or 3, muscular, small beard, wearing a sport coat and casually dressed--fits that of a suspect Borough police are looking for in the rape two weeks ago of a 14-year old Princeton jogger on Elm Road. "He is believed to be the same individual," confirmed Chief Frederick Porter. He asked residents in the area to report any suspicious person.

A man answering this description is also being sought in the rape of a 16-year old resident of South Brunswick Township. She was attacked on Ridge Road in Kingston, where she was riding a bicycle, and her attention was drawn in similar fashion when a stranger asked her for the time.

According to police, the victim was walking at 1:20 in the afternoon when the suspect approached her and asked what time it was. She gave him the time, police said, and as she started to walk away, she was pulled into the bushes. However, she was able to talk the suspect out of raping her.

The police investigation is being continued by Det. Frank Boccanfuso, Det. Norman Servis and Ptl. Robert Nielsen.

Wine Talk
by Archie Browne
THE LONG LIVED HERMITAGE WINES
Hermitage (Air-Me-Taj) produces approximately 50,000 cases of both red and white wines a year, of which two thirds is red.
The red wines are full-bodied, vigorous, and long lived. They possess a high degree of delicacy and softness when fully matured, and are outstanding in so far as quality is concerned. The steep terraced hillside from which these wines are produced, lies some fifty miles south of Lyon.
White Hermitage is a dry, full-bodied wine, pale gold in color, with definite character and a notable bouquet. According to legend, a returning crusader, Henri Gaspard de Sterimberg brought with him from Persia, the first vine cuttings of the Syrah grape, and established the vineyards which today cover the entire hill of Hermitage.

Tuesday's Election

And in any case, it was never a local election issue. Can you imagine a Princeton candidate for local office advocating a widened Route 206?

In the Borough, the two incumbents have been needled by the opposition about "inaction." Ms. Waring says voters have complained to her about inertia on Council.

"One man told me he'd been to the engineer, to Council and the police about a neighborhood noise problem and nothing has been done," Ms. Waring reported. "A woman had a similar complaint regarding garbage truck noise. The whole idea of a small town is that you can call up somebody for help. And larger issues also are talked and studied to death.

"I see this as the major difference between Republicans and Democrats," she continued, "I am in management, and in my business I must make decisions and meet deadlines. If routine matters were handled efficiently, Council could devote more time to policy."

Her running-mate, John Reid, agrees, and charges Council with "nit-picking."

No Time to Hurry. In reply, Mrs. van den Blink says decisions made for 12,000 people "must not be made precipitously."

"I must be able to defend my vote to these people. And problems are more complex and require more thought than is realized. Many factors must be considered: a parking garage, for example, is a very substantial change for a small town and I do not take this lightly. If government is ponderous, it's for a good reason: the 12,000 people we must consider."

Mrs. Medvin points out that Council is largely composed of people who have full-time jobs, and she adds:

"You have to think things through. We extended rent-levelling rather than rush through it. We must take time to talk with people and to think. And there is more material to read than anyone could do in a month. You don't want to make snap decisions at midnight."

From there, the differences among Borough candidates are largely related to lining up the problems. Mrs. van den Blink says rent-levelling and the garage are major issues; Mrs. Medvin regards the garage and housing as major; Ms. Waring says revaluation is number one; Mr. Reid says financing the garage is primary.

In Agreement. All four candidates see the garage as inevitable, although Mrs. van den Blink says only that she is "tilting in the direction" of approval for one.

"We have an obligation to our merchants to make it as comfortable as possible to shop here," Mrs. Medvin says, of the garage. "We must learn to live with it, and hope it won't inconvenience downtown residents, in fact, I think it may help, by keeping people from parking in front of downtown homes."

Ms. Waring and Mr. Reid consider another parking problem: where do Medical Center employees park while the Center's own parking garage is being built?

The Republicans want the Borough to make available at no cost, the surplus parking spaces in the new Maclean yard, estimated at over 50 spaces.

"Apparently the Council member in charge of parking (Mrs. van den Blink) has not seen fit to offer this kind of cooperation to the hospital," Mr. Reid said this week.

Ms. Waring says it wouldn't cost taxpayers anything because the surplus spaces aren't being rented anyway.

A 3-to-1 Split. Revaluation is supported by all candidates except Mrs. van den Blink, who says "I do not see any urgency about revaluation." Her running-mate, Mrs. Medvin, supports it and has proposed a plan adopted in Massachusetts to protect home-owners from tax increases related to revaluation. Ms. Waring also supports a phase-in.

Rent-levelling must be examined very carefully, all candidates agree, and the incumbents point to the general sense, on Council, that some form of ordinance is required.

In the Township. No matter who wins, there will be two new members of Township Committee.

Republicans see no new issues since the campaign started, but Democrats say the gubernatorial race and the decision to revalue property in the Township have sharpened the tax issue.

"Can people afford to stay here?" asks Democrat David Klein. "We must find other sources of revenue than residential property taxes. Republicans can only talk in general terms about taxes because they don't know what Bateman (gubernatorial candidate) will do."

"Our commitment to seek rateables is uppermost," says Democrat Kate Litvack.

Completion of the Natural Resources Inventory as soon as possible, is essential, Democrats say, to determine the best places for new rateables.

"You must know what you would damage and what can be utilized," is Mr. Klein's comment, and Mrs. Litvack says, "Not all the Township is a hard, rocky ridge. We must pay attention to the best use of the land."

The public vote on the school budget doesn't come until early next year, but the school board would like comments from the community on what should be included and how the budget preparation should proceed.

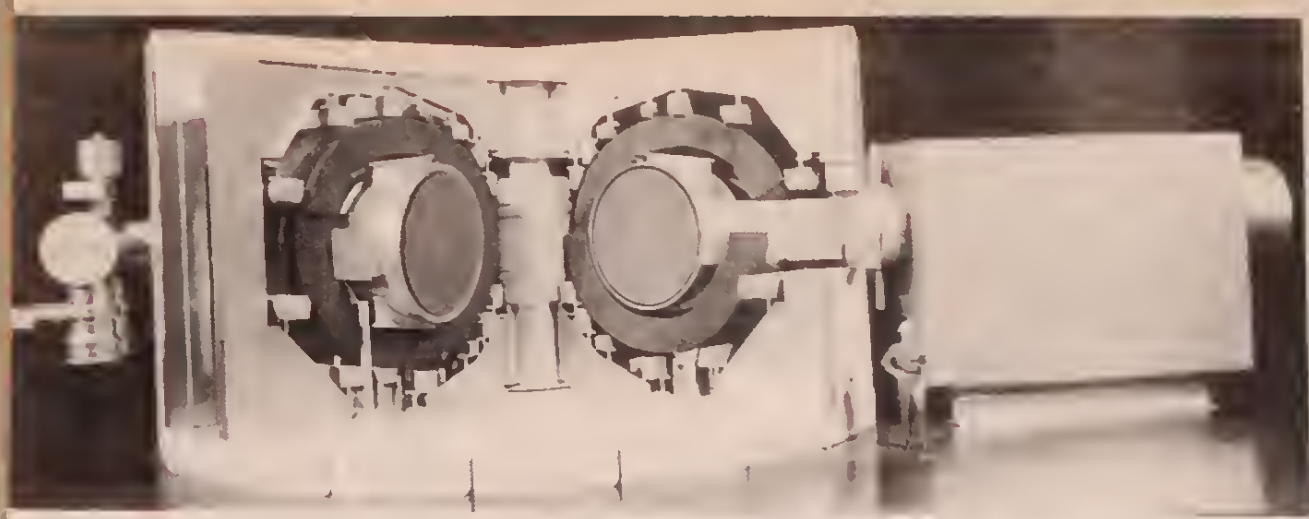
Major Step Taken toward Birth of Fusion Power



MODEL OF the Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor funded by the U.S. Department of Energy is being designed and constructed at the Princeton University Plasma Physics Laboratory, the James Forrestal Campus on Route 1. The experimental device, scheduled to be operational in 1981, will be the first to produce fusion energy in any significant quantity. Figure of man provides proportional dimensions of reactor when completed.

Twenty years from now, onsumers may be using lectricity derived from the usion of hydrogen isotopes – n energy source described as afe, economical and practically limitless.

energy through the fusion of light atoms.

Last Friday, at Princeton University's James Forrestal Campus in Plainsboro, ground was broken for construction of the $239 million Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor experimental complex. It is a giant step from the theoretical and laboratory studies of the past two decades to the test-and-development stage of fusion power.

Similar reactors will eventually be built in England, Japan and the Soviet Union. Some 3,000 scientists all over the world are engaged in the work.

From Russia. "Tokamak" is an acronym in Russian. Translated, it means "current and magnetic chamber."

In the Tokamak reactor, gas is heated to a very high temperature, breaking it down to create a plasma. Plasma, which is neither solid, liquid nor gas, is then heated to temperatures as high as 60,000,000 to 100,000,000 degrees centigrade. This is done to get as many tritium nuclei as possible to fuse with nuclei of deuterium.

Tritium and deuterium -- heavy isotopes of hydrogen are used because they fuse easily. They are also abundant: some ten million-million tons of deuterium are in ordinary water. Tritium can be bred from lithium which is in both sea water and soil.

Energy released by the fusion of tritium and deuterium nuclei cannot yet be converted into electricity. However, the technology to make the conversion to electricity can be imagined, and Forrestal scientists believe that a demonstration plant on a commercial scale will be possible by the 1990s, or the early 21st century at the latest.

Costs Defined. Construction costs for commercial plants are estimated to be about the same as those for nuclear power plants. Economic feasibility has to be demonstrated after scientific feasibility has been shown through the Tokamak reactor.

Radioactivity produced in the process is much less than

Rateable Rejected. Republican William Cherry reminds voters that "it was Democrats who turned down a rateable – the office building for upper Mount Lucas Road. The structure was, in the end, well-designed environmentally."

Running-mate Tom Haber warns that the search for rateables "isn't as easy as David Klein says," but he agrees that the search must continue, and that rateables must be built where they won't do environmental damage. Also, he adds, they must be rateables that won't cost the municipality in road-building and police protection.

Republicans want district representation in Mercer County government, and Mr. Haber says:

"Princeton should be getting more services from the county: twice as much of our tax money goes to the county as to the Township."

"The county is a red-herring issue," Mr. Klein replies. "The county budgets are under 'caps' just like ours; Mercer County has been frugal compared to other New Jersey counties."

"We must work WITH the county, not attack them aggressively," Mrs. Litvack suggests, "we must make sure available county services come here; health services, for example, and better road care."

Concerned Over Growth. Township growth concerns all four candidates.

"Controlling growth should not be used as a subterfuge for not doing anything," Mr. Klein warns.

"It is urgent to finish the Master Plan before the moratorium is lifted," Mrs. Litvack says.

"Growth forecasts are now much more reasonable than the earlier ones," Mr. Haber says, "if we're going to have only 2,000 more housing units by 1990, that doesn't conjure up large-scale developments. But we have a responsibility for all kinds of housing, and we must be careful that growth comes where the facilities are -- schools, roads."

"Whom will you house and how?" Mrs. Litvack asks, "The 'white paper' was a good start on housing. Now the hard work must be done. We must balance densities: if they are high in one area, you compensate by lowering them somewhere else."

Mr. Cherry reminds voters that "I was pushing for a 'flat' ordinance a long time ago; it's an idea I originated myself, though others thought of it, too. We should explore the encouragement, if not the actual assistance, of home-owners who want to make flats out of big houses."

He also suggests a local homestead arrangement, under which the Township would pay a utility base, for some families.

Home-owners around the Medical Center, Mr. Haber finds, are concerned that Township growth will price them out of town -- "forced out because Princeton is trying to make housing available!" he reports.

Waste of Time Charged. Efficiency in government has drawn comments from both sides. Mr. Klein sees Committee spending too much time on minute detail which should be left to staff. Mrs. Litvack emphasizes the Democrats' desire to tap citizen talent in both political parties.

Mr. Cherry proposes hiring someone to represent the Township at county and state levels and ferret out ways of obtaining Federal or state money. Mr. Haber urges closer examination of existing revenues, setting up priorities and "spending as efficiently as possible."

Since any candidate will be new on Committee, all emphasize professional experience. Mr. Cherry points to his long concern with water-quality and in particular his worries about potential health hazards in canal water. Mr. Klein refers to his Foreign Service experience running the government of West Berlin; Mr. Haber cites his managerial and business administration experience; Mrs. Litvack reminds voters of her work on Environmental Commission and Joint Recreation Board.

All four, by the way, strongly support consolidation. Each candidate, independently, has said that sound leadership, negotiation and continued good relations with the Borough are the clearest route.

Promises of mild, sunny weather this week have not developed as various forecasters have proclaimed. If it has been mild, there's been no sun; when the sun has shone, it's been rather chill.

The rest of the week is sort of a mixed bag supposedly mild, hopefully sunny into Thursday, with showers late in the day a possibility. The Man thinks Clearing Friday, clouds and maybe showers Saturday. The temperature is expected to range from 40 to just over 60.

Litvack says: "There are crucial decisions ahead, but holding the line on the property tax is urgent — because an ever-rising property tax causes human suffering."

Klein says: "We need clear vision and the ability to know when and how to act. Now is the time to begin the search for the kinds of rateables that make good neighbors and good taxpayers."

'Mischief Night' Proves Relatively Quiet in Princeton But Hopewell Is Hit by $50,000 Fire and Other Vandalism

Unlike neighboring Hopewell where "mischief night" was described as the worst in years, police in the Township and Borough reported all was relatively quiet.

"It was almost as if some parental control had a great influence on the kids," said Chief Frederick Porter in the Township. "On the whole, it was very quiet; we came out ahead."

The most serious acts the Township police could point to were traffic signs sprayed with paint. In scattered areas, there were reports of egg-throwing, soaping and the spreading of toilet paper. There were no arrests.

In the Borough, there were a few more incidents of vandalism and two arrests. Still Captain Theodore Lewis could observe: "Overall, it was fairly quiet, nothing serious. I thought we got away pretty good."

Some Action Necessary. Around 8, Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Ptl. William Huoter stopped two cars, after police received a number of calls about eggs being thrown from cars.

The car of Ronald Petri, 20, Dutchtown-Zion Road, Montgomery Township, was stopped on Olden Street opposite the Engineering Quadrangle. With Petri were a 16-year old juvenile from Skillman and a 14-year old from Belle Mead.

A car operated by Roy Guin, 18, Opossum Road, Skillman was stopped at Prospect and Harrison. Inside were two juveniles, 16 and 15, from Belle Mead and a 14-year old from Skillman. Both drivers were charged with throwing objects from a moving vehicle. "They were throwing eggs at pedestrians, cars and buildings," Captain Lewis said.

At Harrison near Nassau, a rock was thrown at the rear window of a passing car; a motorist driving on Harrison near Gordon Way reported his windshield struck by a BB pellet; a Princeton resident reported paint on his hood and the hubcaps removed from his car parked in the Park Place lot; the windshield wipers, side mirror and antenna of a student's car parked behind the Cloister Inn were ripped off; and a 14-year old Township youth was arrested at Harrison and Western Way and charged with possession of marijuana.

Hopewell Hard Hit. In Hopewell Borough, residents were shocked at the rampant vandalism.

A suspicious fire destroyed two large frame structures, two trucks, a tractor, a fork lift, building materials and other items at the J.B. Hill and Sons Lumber Company, causing an estimated $50,000 in damage.

The personal car of a Hopewell policeman was set aflame, after vandals had poured gasoline over it, and the front window of the Hopewell Pharmacy was broken. All four tires of a car were slashed, prompting the father of the owner, John Cromwell, 71 East Prospect Street, to offer a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest of the culprit.

he radioactivity in uranium or plutonium, scientists say, and it dissipates rapidly, compared to either uranium or plutonium. After some 20 or 30 years, according to Forrestal spokesmen, the internal structure of the reactor would become radioactive and would have to be removed, but this radioactivity is also low-level.

In any case, it is not possible to use any of the products of the fusion for making bombs.

Melvin Gottlieb, director of the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory, has directed the international research work on a hydrogen-based energy source. He has been director of the laboratory since 1961, and holds a NATO senior foreign fellowship in science.

Dr. Gottlieb succeeded Lyman Spitzer Jr. as head of the Plasma Physics Laboratory. Dr. Spitzer's work in astronomy and physics is primarily responsible for the existence of the laboratory. His study of extremely hot rarified gases in interstellar space led to the idea that a plasma might be confined inside a tube by using an externally-generated magnetic field. His concept – the "Stellarator" -- led to full-scale effort in the field of controlled fusion at Princeton.

MORE APARTMENTS

At 92 Nassau. One of Princeton's landmark buildings -- the University's "Lower Pyne" on the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon – will be remodeled into nine apartments and re-designed street level retail space, according to plans reviewed Tuesday night by the Planning Board.

The half-timbered exterior of the building will be retained. The main entrance to the retail space will be, as it is now for Nassau Liquors and the Suburban Bus Terminal, from Nassau Street.

Residents will enter an apartment foyer from a Witherspoon Street entrance, and the bus terminal area will give up some of its space to make a larger entry-way than exists now on the Witherspoon Street side.

Four apartments will be made from the second-floor area. Two will be studio units and two will have one bedroom. They will be built around a central core, with a rooftop garden.

On the third and fourth floors will be five duplex apartments looking out onto the rooftop garden. Living and dining areas will be on the third floors. Bedrooms on the fourth floors will be reached by private internal stairways within each apartment. The University plans three one-bedroom apartments and two two-bedroom units.

Fireplaces now in the rooms – the building was originally a dormitory – will be retained. Skylights will augment window lighting.

Parking for tenants will probably be in the Borough's Spring Street municipal lot.

AGREEMENT REACHED

On WW Police Contract. A protracted, 13-month, often bitter dispute between West Windsor police and Township officials ended last week when police agreed to a new two-year contract.

Viewed as a victory for the police, the contract gives all police officers a five percent retroactive raise for 1977 and raises totalling six percent for 1978. The Township's top offer had reportedly been a 3.4 percent increase.

In addition, police will receive one personal day a year and one more vacation day after five years of service. The Township also agreed to pay $150 toward the premium of a dental plan for each member of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association's Local 271.

The state Public Employee Relations Commission had been brought into the dispute, after a mediator was unable to

PLAN NOW FOR PRINCETON'S FUTURE

TOM HABER BILL CHERRY

YOU'VE HELPED US...

We've seen your answers to our questionnaires.
We've called on and talked with many of you.
You've helped us focus on the needs of the Township and its citizens.

WE BELIEVE WE ALL SHARE SOME BASIC NEEDS AND GOALS

- Growth that is self supporting and won't overload our local taxes
- Control of our growth so that it will never strain the capacity of our environment
- Assurance that our zoning is protected from drastic changes and exceptions
- Efficiency and prudence in local government as one of the best ways to minimize the local tax bite
- Recognition of the needs of all Township citizens and the gap between living costs and the ability to pay

WE WILL WORK FOR YOU

We will direct our energy and experience to:

- Consider carefully the views of all our citizens on Township issues
- Work for a Master Plan that fully recognizes our environmental limitations and economic capabilities
- Examine thoroughly and calmly the economies and efficiencies of joining the Township and Borough
- Resist imposition of highway programs that would adversely affect the Township and fight for the roads we need
- Develop a program to assure the safety and adequacy of our water supply
- Encourage plans to assure affordable housing and transportation for our elder citizens
- Communicate and cooperate with neighboring communities to solve overlapping problems on a planned regional basis
- Evaluate the economic impact of every Township program before adoption

HOMES ARE ENTERED

In Township and Borough. Police report a number of break-ins last week in Princeton homes.

A diamond ring, a set of earrings with diamond studs and an assortment of prescription drugs were taken from the home of Elaine Schuman, 360 Jefferson Road. A screen was cut and then a glass candle was thrown through the window of a door leading to the garage to get inside. The house was ransacked. It was entered between 8:30 and 5:35 p.m. last Wednesday.

Three bedrooms were ransacked at the home of Margaret J. Liffiton, 276 Mount Lucas Road, the same day.

Police believe the intruder was still inside when the victim's son returned home at 1:10 and found the window pane on the side door broken with a large rock. Nothing was taken. The suspect is believed to have exited from a bedroom window.

An improperly secured rear door allowed someone to enter the home of Louise Forer, 113 Dempsey Avenue, between 9:30 Thursday evening and 1:15 Friday morning and remove a $250 stereo from a downstairs recreation room.

The victim told Ptl. Renn Kaminski that several acquaintances had been in and out of the house recently as guests.

Breaking without Entering. A portable TV set valued at $102 was taken from a table in a living room at the home of John R. Charles, 218 Linden Lane. The window did not have any curtains or drapes and police believe the thief did not enter the room. Instead, he merely pried open the window, reached in and disconnected an attached TV pong game and removed the set through the open window.

Borough police report that a Ewing Street home was entered through a window Saturday between 9 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Taken was a gold-colored jewelry box containing costume jewelry and a watch which were valued at $125.

Twenty-five English pound notes were taken from a safe in a bedroom in an apartment on Linden Lane. The bottom portion of the safe had been pried open, police said.

A bedroom closet door was also ripped open but nothing else was taken. Entry to the apartment was through an adjacent bedroom of the apartment next door.

Hic! An assortment of liquor and wine which was to be consumed at an Alumni Association Dance Saturday night at Princeton Day School was discovered stolen Saturday morning.

Taken from a kitchen storage closet were two cases of vodka, one of gin, three cases of chablis wine, three of burgundy and five bottles of green creme de menthe and five of white.

The case of vodka was later found on a blacktop area near a parking lot with four of its six half-gallons broken. A search around the maintenance shed revealed the unopened case of white wine.

The entry was elaborate. Sgt. Michael Kopliner reported that the intruders removed a ceiling section from the hallway, walked across the ceiling crawl space and pushed down on the sheet rock roof section of the storage room. They then unlocked two doors and carried the liquor through the kitchen and faculty dining room and exited through an outer corridor door.

Peter Vielbig, 72 Dempsey Avenue, reported the theft.

VIDEO MACHINE STOLEN

Valued at $1200. A video tape recorder valued at $1200 was stolen last week from the Department of Preparation and Placement, Room 228, West College on the Princeton University campus. There was no sign of forced entry.

A chain pulley, capable of lifting six tons, was discovered missing last week from the third floor of the University's Firestone Library. Valued at $477, it was taken between October 7 and 28, police said.

A John Street resident reported the theft of a $100 tape deck from his car, while it was parked last week opposite 226 John. The incident took place between 5 and 10:50 p.m.

Between noon and 5 p.m. last Wednesday, someone removed $175 from the cash register at the Gulf service station, 264 Nassau Street. It was reported by manager Constant Gianacaci.

TRESPASSER ARRESTED

On PDS Grounds. Robert Muehleck, 30, of 322 S. Main Street, Pennington, was arrested Monday afternoon for trespassing on the grounds of Princeton Day School.

Police said that Mr. Muehleck had been warned previously about trespassing on PDS property. He was later released, pending his appearance in court December 1.

PARKED CAR STRUCK

On Hamilton Avenue. A car parked on Hamilton Avenue was struck from behind by another Thursday afternoon, and the resultant impact forced it over the curb and sidewalk, where it knocked over a fence post and damaged the fence at the Chestnut Street playground.

The driver, Mrs. Marguerite McAneny, 67 Grover Avenue, refused medical aid at the scene for a cut lip, bruised chin and sore knee. She was issued a summons by Ptl. Gerald Patterson for careless driving.

The parked car was owned by Donna W. Nitchun, 160 Hodge Road.

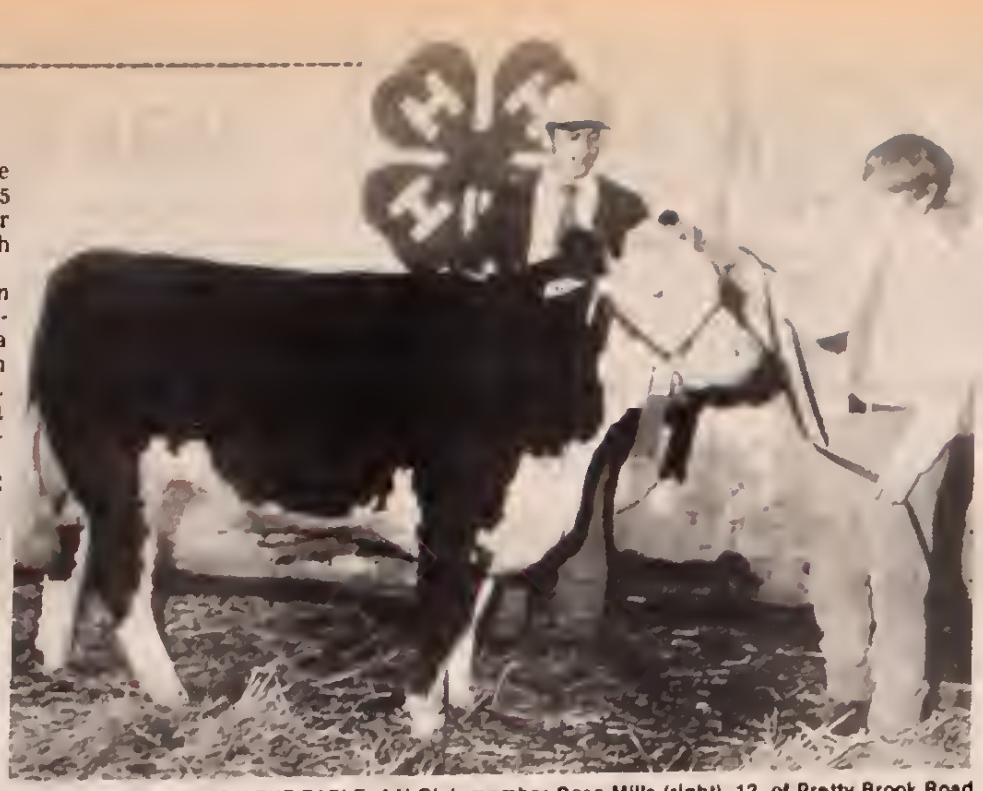
Alan Glas, 35 Hawthorne Avenue, were each fined $35 Monday in Borough curt for racing on a highway. Both pleaded not guilty.

Judge Philip Carchman fined Edna Arons, 270 Wendover Road, and Sandra Bernasek, 30 N. Stanworth Drive, $15 each for speeding. A one-way street violation cost Marie Johnson, 111 Drummond Drive, Pennington, $15.

Others: Harriet Banks, 4E Holly House, $15, red light; James G. Leech, 305 Prospect Avenue, $15, failure to make repairs; Kart Faller, 63 N. Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell; Richard Ellis, 36 Cranbury Road, Princeton Junction, and Virginia Damon, 208 Loetscher Place, all $10, overdue inspection.



ON THE HOOF, THEN ON THE TABLE: 4-H Club member Rose Mills (right), 12, of Pretty Brook Road, looks dejected as he parts with the 1,187-pound purebred Hereford steer he raised as his 4-H project and entered in this year's state 4-H Baby Beef Show and Sale in Trenton. The junior yearling was sold to the Nassau Inn, so diners can expect plenty of prime quality beef to be on the menu. Al Neuberger of Titus Mill Road, Pennington, breeder of the animal at Rayham Farms, offers a word of consolation. The 4-H beef program is supervised by the New Jersey Cooperative Extension Service at Cook College, Rutgers University.

WORKMAN INJURED

On Firestone Roof. A Camden workman, 32-year old John Hoskins, was injured Monday morning when a loaded gravel chute collapsed and pinned him underneath as he was working on the roof of the Firestone Library on the Princeton University campus.

Mr. Hoskins was taken to Princeton Medical Center where he was treated for a fracture of his right leg and possible internal injuries.

WINDOW IS TARGET

Of Vandals. A 6-foot plate glass Thermopane window at the office of Dr. Bruce J. Berger, 218 Franklin Avenue, was pelted last week by a vandal armed with a BB gun, leaving six small holes. A flood lamp at the corner of the roof was also damaged, police said.

Neighbors told Sgt. Michael Kopliner that a tall thin youth had been in the area shooting a BB gun from a rear alleyway of Linden Lane that runs toward the Westminster Choir College.

Borough police report that a 24-inch window on the side of Verbeyst Cleaners on Tulane Street was broken during the weekend by someone who threw a drinking glass through it. It was discovered Saturday morning.

BENEFIT SCHEDULED

For Watersheds Association. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association will hold its annual December Fest and Auction on the afternoon and evening of December 10 at the Institute for Advanced Study. The event partially supports the environmental education program of the Association on its 400-acre reserve.

The association, a non-profit organization devoted to encouraging adequate water quality and land use planning throughout the central New Jersey corridor, is supported entirely by its members. The association is known for its programs and leadership on environmental issues and for its special environmental education day camp each summer, seminars for adults and for its special leadership training week for high school students interested in the geology, biology, and hydrology of the world around them.

REPORTS BY MAIL

For West Windsor Students. The parents of students in grades K-6 in the West Windsor - Plainsboro Regional Schools will receive their child's report card through the mail this school year as a result of action taken by the school board.

The board also directed that each student's reading level be indicated on the report card. At the conclusion of the school year, the board will decide if the procedure of mailing report cards home should be continued.

In business matters, C. Bergen Groendyke, the school district auditor, presented his report for the 1976-77 year. He reported that the district's business procedures had improved considerably and that for the first time he was not making any recommendations for improvement.

Acting in personnel matters, the board approved the appointment of two supplemental instructors, a teacher aide for the Perceptually Impaired class at the Dutch Neck School and a number of substitute teachers.

The next regular monthly meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 22, at 8 p.m. at the high school. At this time the board will receive a report on the district's program for gifted students.

JOIN RESCUE SQUAD

Daytime Volunteers Needed. It's high noon on a crowded Nassau Street, a pedestrian drops with a heart attack ... and no ambulance comes.

That's the nightmare of Bob Cromwell, vice-president of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. Night-time, there are enough volunteers on the Squad, but day-time staffing is almost impossible.

A plea went out this week from both Princeton's mayors, urging men and women who work in Princeton to sign up with the Squad. It's not necessary to be a Princeton resident, just to work in Princeton and be fairly close to the Squad's headquarters on North Harrison.

"We need an ambulance on the road in five minutes – you ought to live or work close to North Harrison," Mr. Cromwell says.

A Minimum Age. The Squad would prefer men and women – you must be 18 years old, unless you want to sign up as a cadet -- who already have Coronary Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) training and First Aid. But even if you don't, you can volunteer and declare your willingness to go through about 100 hours of training. You'll need a letter from your physician, by the way, declaring that you are fit.

At first, you'll be a stretcher-bearer and a probationary member of the Squad. Then you can apply for "unqualified senior" status, then "qualified senior" rank. You may not drive an ambulance or rescue truck unless you are a "qualified senior."

"We'd like at least three people to roll the ambulance, although we've done it with two. And in fact, I've done it alone," Mr. Cromwell says, "If you're alone, and you go to an accident, you've got to get a police officer to escort you back to the hospital."

For Election Results in Princeton Tuesday Night, Call TOWN TOPICS after 9 p.m.

You may respond to an automobile accident, to an elderly person who has had a stroke, a worker who's trapped in a construciton project, a nursing-home resident who suddenly needs medical care only the hospital can provide.

All members of the First Aid and Rescue Squad are volunteers. Mr. Cromwell thinks eventually the town may have to hire paid personnel. Historically, its members have been a small group of men--women were not admitted until recently--working in the center of town.

These men are gradually retiring, and the average age of Squad members is now around 22.

Squad members ask that you stop in at the North Harrison Street headquarters next to the Princeton Shopping Center, after 7 p.m. any evening. They ask you not to telephone because you might block an emergency call. Or you can write, Box 529, Princeton.

FUND AT $250,000

One Third of Goal. The 1977 Princeton Area United Fund - Red Cross Campaign approached the one-third mark, 32.5 percent, of its $769,887 goal this week by receiving contributions totalling $250,213.

Chairman James Stewart reported the figures by saying, "We are now four weeks into the two-and-a-half month campaign and we are very optimistic. While the contributions are coming in at a slow but steady pace, we know that what we have received so far represents the concern of individuals and small business people. Our big boost should come during the first two weeks of November when we will begin receiving returns from some of the larger employee organizations in the area."

Last year, the campaign served the needs of more than 35,000 people living in the area. The funds are used to help support health, welfare and recreational services in Cranbury, East Windsor, Griggstown, Hightstown, Kingston, Montgomery, Plainsboro, Rocky Hill, West Windsor, and adjacent areas of Hopewell, Lawrence and South Brunswick Townships.

Contributions may be sent to the United Fund - Red Cross Campaign of the Princeton Area, PO Box 152.

New Program at John Witherspoon School Helps Pupils Think in Terms of Careers at Early Age

You can help kids find out what they want to be when they grow up by signing in with the World program at the John Witherspoon Middle School

We'll explain that WORLD acronym in a minute. What House Nine at the Middle School is doing is taking a cluster approach to careers, and if that sounds like education-ese, it won't when you hear it explained.

"Let's take the medical field as an example," says Sydelle Ruderman, English teacher in House Nine who has done career work with seventh and eighth graders before.

"You think right away of doctors and and nurses. But there is so much more! The technologist who runs the respirator, mechanics who keep a hospital's complicated equipment in running order, therapists of all kinds, people who analyze blood sugar, orderlies, men and women who work in the diet kitchen..."

"And that's a good place to wipe out male-female stereotypes: no, it is not true that you have to be a man to be a doctor.

We get rid of that one right away!"

In a bank, Mrs. Ruderman goes on, you could be vice-president, a computer operator, the guard who keeps everyone safe, a member of the cleaning crew.

Cooperation Needed. As you may have gathered by now, what Mrs. Ruderman eagerly wants, is the cooperation of people around town.

One woman who is an engineer at RCA has offered to help in many ways. First, by her very existence, she will wipe out that male-engineer stereotype. Then, she's doing computer programming for games, and she has said she is eager to take eight kids at a time and introduce them to her lab.

A House Nine parent who is a dentist has opened the door wide and invited kids to see the careers in dentistry: technologists, radiologists, receptionists, bookkeepers.

WORLD means "Wednesday Opportunities for Resource Learning and Development." Pupils in House Nine may spend all day Wednesdays, or just a part of the day, in looking at the work world. It could be on a workshop basis, a one-to-one apprenticeship, or eight at a time, like the engineering lab.

Mrs. Ruderman would like a volunteer to serve as senior citizen liaison, because she wants to tap the retired gardeners, retired lawyers, retired secretaries.

She has applied to the state for a $1,000 mini-grant. She has no money at all now, but with that sum, she could take students afield to an automobile plant, for example, or the kind of industrial installation that is different from Princeton's research labs.

She would also love it if some local business would lend her a bus. Wouldn't cost anything, and would help her a lot, she says.

Dignity in All Work. A key element in the program is to show seventh and eighth graders that there is dignity in all work. If you love medicine, you are not a failure just because you aren't a doctor. If you love figures you're not a failure just because you aren't president of the bank.

She wants them to watch carpenters at their work, and plumbers. To spend time in an artist's studio, or a bike-repair shop.

With her colleagues in the House, she began this week asking boys and girls to think about all the things they are interested in, ("Write 20 things you love to do.") and make choices realizing that the choices may be different a few minutes from now, but that's OK, too.

What things I love to do cost more than $3. What are things I do alone? What are the things I love to do with people?

Hey, know what? Seems as though everything I like to do, I do with people!

What do I do after school? I just can't stop doing crossword puzzles...wow, do I love computer games!...I'd rather curl up and read than do anything else in the world.

Pupils had to choose one favorite color. They could share that choice with others, or keep it to themselves. They learned what the word "value" means.

I like something. But if I don't like it, that doesn't mean it's no good for somebody else.

Mrs. Ruderman turns to the 30 responses she received from the parents of her 110 pupils. More than one said, "I don't do anything at all, but my husband....

"Now, we think she DOES do something. Art, perhaps, or music. She could drive for us, be our senior citizen person, collate materials for us. There isn't anybody who doesn't do ANYTHING."

Interested? Call the John Witherspoon School (924-6947) and leave your name, address and telephone number. Besides Mrs. Ruderman, House Nine teachers are Betsy Farber (math.), Don Blankenbush (social studies), Ward Campbell (science) and Arlene Huizing (aide). Guidance department staff Ruth Lotz and Jo Hovanec, assisted by guidance interne Bill Alexander of Temple University, are also part of WORLD.

"RALLY" FOR MEREDITH

This Thursday. A rally in support of the candidacy of Regina Meredith for the New Jersey Assembly, will be held this Thursday at 5 at the Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University.

Speakers will be Pat Lindh, who served as special assistant to President Gerald Ford on women's issues, and Ming Hsu, a New Jersey delegate to the National Conference on Women, and a former commissioner for the National Commission for the observance of International Women's Year.

Mrs. Meredith, running for office on the Republican ticket, is an attorney with offices in Princeton. She was the first woman elected to the Mercer County Board of Freeholders.

That's Cynthia inside peering out of bubble top. Helping design and get all the lights to work was her father, Marty Bratman, owner of Princeton's Viking Furniture.

JUVENILE CHARGED

With Series of Thefts. A 17-year old Township juvenile was arrested Sunday by Borough Detectives Ronald Holliday and Douglas Watson and charged with a series of break-ins in the Borough.

He was charged with entering Joseph's Hair Styler twice, the Forer Pharmacy and Morris Maple Paint Store, both on October 11, the Alchemist and Barrister Restaurant, September 13 and with three attempted entries at the Wine & Game Shop on September 28 and October 2 and 11. His arrest, said Capt. Theodore Lewis, is the result of a police investigation.

INCOME TAX SURVEYED

On Special Radio Program. An hour-long analysis of the New Jersey state income tax will be broadcast Saturday at 11:30 a.m. and again Monday at 7 p.m. on WPRB-FM (103.3) Princeton.

Entitled "The State Income Tax: Benefit or Burden?" it will discuss in detail the history and impact of the state income tax. Among those interviewed will be Governor Byrne, gubernatorial challenger State Senator Raymond Bateman, New Jersey Taxpayers' Association President Frank Haines, Eagleton Poll Director Stephen Salmore, and George Hooper of the New Jersey Federation of Senior Citizens.

TWO ENDORSED

By Millicent Fenwick. Committee candidates William Cherry and Thomas Haber received this week the endorsement of Republican Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick in their campaign for seats on Township Committee.

Mrs. Fenwick said she was confident the two Republican candidates "clearly understand the issues and problems that affect their community."

"They also have shown a desire to find realistic solutions -- things the Township can do for itself to guide its future course."

TO MARK VETERANS DAY

With Ceremony at Monument. Princeton Post 76, American Legion, will conduct its annual Veterans' Day services Friday, November 11, at 11. Commander Lester Anderson will place a wreath at the monument at Nassau and Mercer Street to the dead in World Wars I and II and the Korean and Vietnam conflicts. A firing squad and the sounding of taps will conclude the brief ceremony.

Planting too deep is the biggest pitfall to avoid in planting trees this Fall. This, says Sam deTuro of Woodwinds Associates, results in improper aeration of the roots, slower growth and eventual decline.

Dogwoods suffer most from deep planting. The best guide is to plant a tree at the same depth as it grew in the nursery.

Other common mistakes in tree planting are: Planting trees too close to houses, sidewalks and drives. Trees need room for both crown and root growth as they mature.

Moving trees with insufficient soil around roots. Evergreens, hollies, birches, beeches, oaks, dogwood, sugar maple, sweet gums, sourwood and tulip trees should always be transplanted with a ball of earth. The ball should be at least 10 times the diameter of the trunk.

More about planting next week....

Council's Resolution Legalizes Signs Banning Parking on Football Saturdays

For the past 50 years or more, the Borough has been posting no-parking signs on streets near Palmer Stadium to keep traffic moving on football Saturdays. Two weeks ago, red-faced Borough officials discovered for about 25 of those years they have been doing so without any lawful authorization. But the signs will be up again for the Yale game on Saturday.

Lt. John J. Bellow, in charge of such things, reported that a sepcial resolution will be passed before the game by Mayor and Council (perfectly legal) that will cover the next three months and give the Borough time to draw up its own no-parking ordinance.

Years ago, he explained, a state statute gave police chiefs "The right to do what we were doing." But when it was repealed in the early 1950s, it became incumbent on each municipality to pass its own no-parking ordinance. The Borough, he said, apparently never got around to it.

Borough streets involved are Olden, Prospect, Cedar Lane, Harrison; Patton, Aiken and Princeton avenues; Charlton Street and Murray Place--plus the three university-owned streets of Broadmead, Fitz-Randolph and Ivy Lane. As private property, the university has the right to post no-parking signs on these streets, Lt. Bellow said.

"If we allowed parking on all these streets, we couldn't move a car," he said. "It does create problems; no question about it."

The no parking-signs are posted Saturday morning and they start to come down as soon as the game starts, Lt. Bellow said.

at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month, 1918. The American Legion calls upon all citizens and business firms to mark the day with the display of the flag of the United States "in reaffirmation of our national unity and in rededication to our national ideas."

A similar service will be conducted in West Windsor at 12 p.m. in front of the old Township Hall. The public and all veterans are invited to attend.

ONE-PARTY RULE HIT

In Freeholder Race. The two Republican candidates for Mercer County Freeholder -- Scott Reid and Jack Pierson -- emphasized this week that they support two-party government on the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

"All seven Freeholders and the County executive are members of the Regular Democrat Organization," Mr. Reid declared. "We feel that this means there is no effective watch-dog in Mercer County government. Budgetary review power, the most important function remaining with the Freeholder Board, could be more effectively exercised by a bi-partisan legislature."

"The Freeholder Board is responsible for the expenditure of almost $50 million a year, including about one-third of the local property tax," declared Mr. Pierson. "A significant portion of that money is provided by the suburban municipalities, yet when one of the municipalities seeks the assistance of the County for a local project, the County acts as though it is a request for foreign aid."

The two candidates said that Republican representatives on the Freeholder Board "will provide a sympathetic ear within County government for all its constituent local governments."

HOUSE IS GUTTED

By Tuesday Night Fire. A wooden frame house at 29 Green Street was gutted Tuesday night by a fire that apparently started when a kerosene stove on a front porch backfired. No one was injured.

Assistant Fire Chief Ted Kopp said that an unconfirmed account by a neighbor reported that the stove malfunctioned, backfired and was out of control instantly. A general alarm sounded at 5:38.

Special officer Douglas Drummond, one of the first on the scene, said the house was in flames when he arrived. The house is occupied by Brian and Briar Tadlock. It is owned by their father, Joseph Tadlock who lives in the house next door, which is less than two feet away. There had been plans to join the two dwellings.

"The fire had a helluva start," commented Tom Johnson, a volunteer fireman. "Thank, God, there was no wind." Another fireman said there was so much smoke he couldn't see the house.

"It's pretty well gone," confirmed Kopp. "Luckily, it didn't jump. We didn't save much here, but we saved the neighborhood."

Scott Reid, Center, a resident of Princeton for twenty years, and a candidate for the Mercer County Board of Freeholders, talks over county problems with Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick and his running mate, Jack Pierson.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT A FREEHOLDER IS?

A Freeholder is a member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, your County Legislature. The Mercer County Freeholders spend almost 50,000,000 dollars a year, including about one third of your local property tax.

Mercer County funds roads, parks, libraries, the Court system, a jail and workhouse, the Community College, and other facilities. The County administrates welfare, has a hospital, and is involved in numerous other activities.

At present, all seven Freeholders are machine Democrats. That is 7-0 Democrat. This means your County tax dollars are being spent by one political machine. No checks, no balances, no watchdogs.

Jack Pierson and Scott Reid want to be your watchdogs. They offer you the two-party alternative to County government.

Jack, 31, is a teacher at the State School for the Deaf.

Scott, 27, is a young attorney.

Together they will protect your interests. They oppose the completion of Interstate I-95. They feel the County should take the lead in flood control. But most of all, they will guard against the abuses of one - party rule at this level of government. They oppose and will not accept the 33 percent, $3,000 pay raise the Freeholders voted for themselves this year.

Jack and Scott have been campaigning and meeting the electorate for five months, while their opponents have sat back and waited for the machine to carry them.

Help Pierson and Reid prove that politicians must know their people in order to represent them. That's why they can say:

MONOGRAMS, MONOGRAMS, EVERYWHERE! Ruth Ann and Judy, partners at The Piccadilly, keep finding new ways to use their new monogramming service. Here, Ruth Ann displays a sweater given a distinctive personal look with a monogram.

MONOGRAMS ARE NEW

At The Piccadilly. Just in time for Christmas, The Piccadilly has a new monogramming service to personalize sweaters, shirts, robes, scarves and give them a very special touch of luxury and distinction.

Different styles of lettering, in two sizes, are decorative and appealing - the larger size $5, the smaller $4. Takes 2 to 3 weeks, so shop now!

Monogrammed Gifts. Dean's Shetland sweaters in solid colors with a contrasting line of piping around the neckband, sleeves and bottom edge look very striking with a managram to match the piping. Choose navy with emerald green, red with navy, natural with cocoa. Sweater, 100 percent wool, $24.

Dean's Shetland sweaters, 100 percent wool in plain colors, are also a perfect background for a monogram. A silvery gray with a script monogram in navy, looked classic and elegant. Sweater $24.

A newly styled Shetland sweater by Dean's opens at the neck with three buttons. You can have it in navy with red trim, which looks very nice with a red monogram, or try navy with Emerald, emerald with navy, natural with cocoa. 100 percent wool sweater, $24.

Dean's acrylic sweaters, with long sleeves and scoop neck, in an array of fashion colors make the perfect foil for a monogram. Sweater $14.

Long-sleeved, permanent press shirts, some with button-down collars, in stripes, tattersalls and solids look great with a small monogram on the sleeve cuff, collar or on the front. Shirt $20.

A wrap-front robe in the Royal Stewart tartan, piped in white, would look smashing with a white monogram. Dacron and polyester, $28. Its matching gown in white flannelette has a tartan yolk trimmed with white eyelet; a narrow strip of the tartan delineates its hemline flounce. $16.

Fabric handbags are very attractive in wool tartans and solid colors and cotton corduroy. They are fully lined and spacious and have a strap that adjusts for wearing over the shoulder or carrying by hand. Very deluxe with a monogram. $19 for the handbag.

Scarves in squares or oblongs take beautifully to monogramming, especially in solid colors. From $4. Pure silk $6 - $8. Long scarves in authentic wool tartans imported from Scotland would make a lovely monogrammed gift. Scarves $11.

Warm Gifts. The cheery signature prints by Lanz are found in warm and washable 100 percent cotton flannelette nightshirts, granny gowns and pajamas. Night shirts are short or long with mandarin collar and set-in sleeves; long $14, short $12. Granny gowns have eyelet trimmed yolks and raglan sleeves and are $18.

Pajamas also have an eyelet trimmed yolk. $22. All are available in green and white, or blue and white, flowered stripes. The Lanz signature runs like a little green vine along the white stripe. Extra small, small, medium, large.

Perfect for greeting Christmas Day are the rosebud-sprinkled gown and robe in white flannelette, also by Lanz. The yolk of the gown is trimmed with white eyelet and red rickrack; the quilted robe is piped in red, has a zip-front and two side pockets. Robe $36. Gown $22.

After graduation from Virginia Polytechnic Institute with both bachelor and masters degrees in chemistry, Dr. Miller joined Hoffman-LaRoche, Inc. as an analytical chemist. He received his Ph.D. in polymer chemistry from McGill University in 1955 and joined Celanese Corporation as a polymer research chemist. "We're getting to the point in this state where there is no quick fix. Where the Legislature needs to take a more policy-making role. Where lawmakers need to bring a background of knowledge and experience to the job.
"I don't believe issues such as health, child care, employment, and rape are 'women's issues.' To believe so would be a failure to grant men any credit for sensitivity and concern. These are my issues, as well as those of my wife and daughters'."

"We cannot afford a system where students can't read or write and teachers can't teach for the paperwork. Parents pay for the schools so why can't they have a say in what the schools are supposed to do?
"The so-called 'fuel adjustment charge' has become an excuse for the utility companies to dump outrageous and questionable costs onto the consumer with limited restraints. Tighter controls should be placed on utility companies and the 'fuel adjustment charge' should be abolished."

COMMUNITY MEETING ON BUDGET

On November 7 at 8 00 p m in the Community Park School, the Board of Education will meet with the public on an informal discussion of the up-coming budget This meeting will give the members of the community an opportunity to share their feelings about possible increases and decreases that the Board should be considering in the up-coming budget It will also be a time for familiarizing the public on the format of this year's budget, and also an opportunity for helping with the shaping of the process of next year's budget The format for the meeting will be small group discussions

CONFERENCE time follows the end of the first marking period and is scheduled for Wednesday afternoons (November 9, 16 and 23 in the elementary schools, November 16, 23 and December 7 at the middle school) There is no better way for parents and teachers to exchange valuable information on each child's interests, performance, attitudes and growth It also gives parents a better idea concerning the work their child does in a school setting Most schools and teachers willingly schedule conferences for working parents at a time convenient for all concerned, several schools can arrange for a translator to assist parents for whom English is a second language

Fall conference time does coincide with report cards, however, other meetings may be scheduled from time to time by either parent or teacher request

SCHOOL open house has always been a time for parents to glimpse classes in action - quite a different pace from back-to-school night or conferences

All Elementary schools will display a "welcome mat" to any community member who would like to visit Vote early in the day, then stop in the school for coffee and a look at reading, writing and arithmetic - as well as a number of other subjects taught in elementary school.

BUGS, insects and creepy crawlies were the center of attention recently in two Riverside school classes. Both Mrs Moore's second graders and Mrs. Findley's 4-5 class listened to Princeton University speakers Dr John Copeland, whose topic was fireflies and Mr Robert Dahl, honey bees

Class projects included creation of insects from stamped fingerprints, creative writing assignments and three dimensional insects built with construction paper and waxed paper The culminating activity was the making of sugar cookie insects; moths, butterflies, grasshoppers, caterpillers et al - none of which created any problems as they were promptly eaten!

THE local American Field Service committee, together with the high school AFS group, selected three candidates for the Americans Abroad Program. The candidates whose names will be submitted to the National AFS committee are Elizabeth Koigler, Julie Lewin and Steven Wright.

THE first contest of the Delaware Mathematics League was held at West Windsor - Plainsboro High School. Fifteen schools participated in the contest PHS was represented by a team of three students: John Sullivan, Mark Poritz and Rob Almgren, and their advisor, Mr Nabil Taha PHS won first place, followed by Lawrenceville Prep and Hopewell Valley

WHERE do all the items come from? Who's writing it?" we are asked To list all the credits weekly for "Highlights" would cut down on our reporting of newsworthy information, but, for the record, here is the heart of the "Highlights" staff As roving reporters CP-Pat Cleaves, JP-David Reeves, LB-M.P Wilkerson, RS-Linda Pope, JW-Betty Buzard and Tady Hunter, PRHS-Betty Steele and Frank Soda The calendar is assembled weekly by M P Wilkerson and writeups by Tady Hunter, who are co-editors of the column; the Superintendent's office checks copy and sends it out At times it seems that everyone in PRS gets "into the act", but it takes a number of people to report on the wide range of activities

Definition Re-Defined.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Dr. Ashley Montagu, our distinguished resident anthropologist, has taken me to task for using "Neanderthal" in a recent statement of political opinion which I published in your newspaper. (TOWN TOPICS, Oct. 26)

Neanderthal Man, it seems, has been much maligned by polemicists who refer to him as an ugly, overaggressive beast of little or no intellectual capacity. The fact is, Dr. Montagu tells me, that the Neanderthal was a gentle and cheerful creature, the first in the evolutionary chain that would eventually produce man, to honor tribal dead with burial and with floral decorations.

I owe apologies to all Neanderthals, past and present, for having heart-warming sentiments at least.

Traffic Fines Up

Effective Tuesday, November 1, traffic fines on all moving violations increased $5.

A apokesman at the Borough Violations Department said that anyone paying a fine after the 1st, regardless of when the ticket was issued, will be required to pay the extra $5.

Statement Corrected.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I should like to correct and clarify a statement attributed to me in the article on housing violations in the October 26 issue of TOWN TOPICS, page 2, column 3.

I did not attend the Borough Council meeting on October 20, having been told by one of the officials that the rent levelling ordinance would probably not be discussed. The statement "that landlords can do almost anything they wish under the present ordinance", evidently based on something I have said previously, is out of context, and very misleading, to say the least.

It implies that I feel that landlords can get by with any request, no matter how unreasonable, and I have never said anything of the kind. My position has consistently been that if a landlord complies with the terms of the ordinance, reasonable increases can generally be obtained.

This is not to say that I consider the present ordinance completely fair to either tenants or landlords, or that it is achieved the ends desired by either party. In particular, I feel that it is often unfair to "mom and pop" owners.

ENHANCE THAT CORNER?

Pine and Nassau. "It's not a distinguished corner – looks a little junky, to put it mildly," observed Borough Zoning Board chairman John McGoldrick Thursday night as the board pondered the case before it.

The corner lacking distinction, in Mr. McGoldrick's view, is the northwest corner of Nassau and Pine. Its one-story building has been bought by Anthony P. Sannino who wants to dress the place up and add a second story containing four one-bedroom apartments. "Luxury apartments," Mr. Sannino told the board.

He needs six parking spaces under the zoning ordinance, and can provide four of them in the Horley Building on the other side of the Pink Elephant. His lawyer, Gordon Strauss, pointed out that if Mr. Sannino were building four apartments in separate locations he'd only need the four spaces he has, and that in practical fact he has one space for each apartment.

Mr. Sannino also needs bulk variances, but Mr. Strauss observed that if he complied with the setback regulations, he'd have a one-story building with a useless little tower on top instead of a regular second story.

He produced a new court ruling declaring that if a proposed use is "inherently beneficial" to the general welfare, the use can be approved. The ruling applied to a use variance, which Mr. Sannino doesn't need. Can it be applied to the kinds of zoning relief Mr. Sannino does need? The board decided to think about it and possibly reach a decision this week.

In testimony for Mr. Sannino, real estate agent Robert Dougherty told the Zoning Board there is a five-year wait for one-bedroom Palmer Square apartments, with 100 names on the waiting list. At Princeton Community Village, he said, there is also a five-year list with over 200 names.

"The remodeling would enhance the street," said Zoning Board member Alan Chimacoff, and Mr. McGoldrick said the board should try to "bend a little" to encourage good design and enhance a neighborhood.

WEIDEL FIRM CITED

For "Consumer Satisfaction." The Consumer Research Bureau has presented the 1977 Excellence Award for Customer Relations to Weidel Real Estate, Inc. for its efforts in providing the highest levels of consumer satisfaction.

The Bureau was organized in 1964 to perform a service to the house-buying public. Each year, hundreds of thousands of survey questionnaires are mailed to recent home purchasers asking for an evaluation of the services they received from real estate companies and their agents.

Weidel Real Estate, Inc. was so highly rated by its clients that it was selected to receive the award.

AWARD MADE

For Environmental Planning. The Johnson & Johnson Baby Products Company has received an award for Distinguished Service in Environmental Planning for the company's development of its 255-acre site in Montgomery Township. The award is sponsored by the Industrial Development and Research Council, a non-profit organization of corporate real estate and facility planning executives, and Conway Publications, Inc., both with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga.

These citations have been given each year since 1972 to recognize those who have made outstanding contributions in harmonizing new facilities with the environment. The Johnson & Johnson Baby Products Company acquired the Montgomery site in 1974 and completed construction of a disposable diaper manufacturing facility there in the fall of 1976.

Last summer it began construction of administration and research facilities on the site. Completion is expected during the summer of 1979.

The Forrestal Research Campus on U.S. Route 1, a part of Princeton University, received the award in 1975.

HEARING CONTINUED

On Stonaker Application. The many residents who turned out last Wednesday in Township Hall to hear the application of Joseph Stonaker before the Zoning Board will have to return Thursday, November 10, at 7:30. The board only got around to hearing the beginning of Mr. Stonaker's testimony in support of his application for a use variance to convert the former Bovino Market at the corner of Leigh Avenue and John Street into his law office.

Most of the evening was taken up in hearing the application of the Princeton Packet which sought – and was granted – variances to build additions in front of and to the rear of its plant on Witherspoon Street. Mr. Stonaker had just begun offering into evidence some 15 photographs of structures in the vicinity of John Street at Leigh and Birch Avenues to support his claim that the area already has a number of non-residential buildings when the hearing adjourned at 11.

CONSTRUCTION STARTS

On Facility Designed by Fulmer. Ground breaking ceremonies last month marked the start of construction of an Exxon Corporation facility designed by the firm of Fulmer & Bowers, architects of 341 Nassau Street.

This $5 million dollar building will be the administrative headquarters of the vast Exxon Bayway Chemical Plant in Linden. The four-story brick faced structure will incorporate sophisticated energy conservation systems and will include a medical clinic for plant personnel.

OPENS AD AGENCY

Office on State Road. Louis Costanza, who was for nearly 17 years associated with the firm of Keyes, Martin & Co. in Springfield, has announced the formation of a new full-service advertising agency at 1101 State Road.

Mr. Costanza served for many years as account executive and vice president at the Springfield firm and became known for his specialization in real estate development. However he expects the new agency to branch into other areas including retail stores, the automotive aftermarket, industrial, financial and even governmental and political types of accounts.

He describes his new shop as "fuller than full service." It includes on-premises services in copywriting, art direction, mechanical pasteup, typesetting, photography and the production of half-tones. "For the first time in my career," he said, "I can produce an entire piece of advertising artwork without leaving my office – within hours if need be."

Mr. Costanza is a graduate of Cornell University and received his early training in the motion picture business as a screen publicist with United Artists. He lives in North Brunswick.

LEADERSHIP IN THE LEGISLATURE

You can expect it from a man who has provided leadership for Ewing Township, the largest community in the district. A man who really did something to keep costs down, to prevent haphazard development of housing and roads, to battle crime and to keep the state in its place. Tom DeMartin did all the things a leader should do. And for that he was re-elected by the largest plurality in the history of the township. If you are interested in leadership, you'll be interested in Tom DeMartin.

MILLICENT FENWICK REPORTS

TO THE 5TH DISTRICT OF NEW JERSEY

CONSUMER PROTECTION

Perhaps it's time to go into a subject that has been much discussed -- the proposed Consumer Protection Agency. I have been bombarded with nickels -- from as far away as Florida and California -- because I am, they say, on Ralph Nader's "New York List" of those who are undecided about the bill, H.R. 6805. I am undecided and leaning against it at this point. Here's why:

1. It will have an Administrator, a Deputy Administrator and five Assistant Administrators and regional offices (assistants, secretaries, office rent and telephone, fringe benefits, etc.), an unnecessary setup for the following functions:

2. It will collect complaints, exactly as the Federal Trade Commission does now, and command information from businesses, without the F.T.C.'s power to issue corrective regulations. Complaints of consumers and rebuttals of providers will be on public view, but this may be hard on small businesses lacking adequate and articulate defenders -- no verification of complaints is contemplated.

3. It will not help one consumer with an individual problem -- like the F.T.C. -- it will collect and classify only.

4. It plans to "support and encourage" product testing, but this is already being done by the National Bureau of Standards, the Food and Drug Administration, the Consumer Products Safety Commission, the Energy Agency (for energy consumption efficiency), the Environmental Protection Agency (for noise pollution), the new Department of Commerce Consumer Product Labelling Program and a number of excellent, respected, private testing Associations, such as the Fire Prevention Association.

These functions seem duplicative and unnecessary. There is, however, one unique and useful function which, if properly executed could really help the consumer -- the power of the Consumer Agency to question other Federal agencies, and take them to court, if necessary, to make them do what the law provides, or stop them from going beyond the law.

This is the area in which a consumer agency, fearlessly determined to do battle with all entrenched special interest groups, could really help consumers; but see how prepared this agency appears to be to limit its own powers,

TWO (2) Members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders (3 yr. term)

PUBLIC QUESTION NO. 1

	YES	BEACHES AND HARBORS BOND ISSUE Should the "Beaches and Harbors Bond Act of 1977" which authorizes the State to issue bonds in the amount of $30,000,000.00 for the purposes of researching, planning, acquiring, developing, constructing and maintaining beach and harbor restoration, maintenance and protection facilities, projects and programs, providing the ways and means to pay the interest of such debt and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof, be approved?
	NO
		INTERPRETIVE STATEMENT Approval of this act would authorize the sale of $30,000,000.00 in bonds to be used for the development construction, and maintenance of beach and harbor restoration, maintenance and protection facilities.

PUBLIC QUESTION NO. II

	YES	MEDICAL EDUCATION FACILITIES BOND ISSUE Should the "New Jersey Medical Education Facilities Bond Act of 1977" which authorizes the State to issue bonds in the amount of $120,000,000.00 for the refinancing of the Teaching Hospital project of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey and for the construction and renovation of Medical education facilities to provide improved hospital service and professional care for the people of New Jersey; and to provide the means to pay the principal and interest on these bonds, be approved?
	NO
		INTERPRETIVE STATEMENT Approval of this act would authorize the sale of $120,000,000.00 in bonds to be used for refinancing the Teaching Hospital project of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey at a substantial interest cost savings to the State; and for the construction of additional hospital and medical education facilities, the costs to be offset in whole or in part by these savings. Consumer Protection to clip its own wings. The sponsors have agreed that:

1. It cannot consider the impact on consumer interests of agricultural laws, regulations or proposals.

2. It cannot take labor costs into account as they affect consumers. This is defended on the basis that government cannot interfere in contracts between labor and management. No one suggests it should. But to be unable to consider the costs of such contracts to consumers, or the cost of regulations of the Department of Labor, or any other agency, when labor costs are involved, it is mockery of consumer protection.

Finally, one essential duty or power is lacking -- the right and obligation to come before any Committee or Subcommittee of Congress to testify on behalf of consumers when legislation affecting consumer interests is being proposed. How useful it would have been had such consumer advocates been heard when the Agriculture Committee was considering support prices!

The bill passed and now every consumer will pay -- among other costs -- 50 cents extra on every 10 lb. bag of sugar. (Three of us stood against this on the House floor and were defeated by division 81-3). How good it would have been to have heard a consumer voice in protest while the Cargo Preference Act was being considered -- an Act now released from Committee, and one which will cost consumers $500 - $600 million a year if it becomes law.

The proposed Consumer Protection Agency is a flawed bill. I have worked for consumers here in Congress, where many of my consumer amendments have been adopted, and where a bill I proposed has just been signed into law, but in good conscience, I cannot support this bill as it now stands.

PRESENTING A PORTRAIT: Mrs. Emily Douglas, widow of Senator Paul H. Douglas, holds a portrait of the late senator from Illinois painted by Col. Horace A. Chenoweth, executive officer of the Marine Corps Public Affairs Unit in New York City, following dedication ceremonies of the Douglas Visitors Center in Parris Island, S.C. The portrait on the wall, also by Col. Chenoweth, will remain at the Center.

News Of The CHURCHES

BAZAARS PLANNED

On Election Day. Three area churches will take advantage of Election Day to hold bazaars and lunches for the benefit of the church.

The Women's Organization of Plainsboro Presbyterian Church will hold their annual Election Day Bazaar on Monday evening from 7 to 9 and on Tuesday from 10 to 4 in the Parish House, adjacent to the church on Plainsboro Road. The traditional tables will feature aprons, baked goods, boutique and gift items, children's toys and books, plants and white elephant items.

The hospitality table will offer refreshments and a place to relax and visit with friends. Good clean used clothing, sheets and blankets will be collected for a church-sponsored clothing drive for needy people in Appalachia.

The Princeton Baptist Church, Route 1 and Washington Road, will hold its annual Election Day Bazaar Tuesday from 9 to 4. There will be crafts, baked goods and white elephant items as well as lunch offered.

The Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck suggests that voters plan to have lunch on Tuesday from 11 to 2 in the Christian Education Building. Homemade vegetable soup, ham, potato salad, molded salads and home baked pies will be available.

A variety of craft items and baked foods will also be offered for sale, as well as Jay Walton's wooden giftware. The selection includes planters, lamps, cranberry scoops, spoon racks, magazine racks and sturdy toys.

SERVICES LISTED

For World Community Day. World Community Day will be celebrated Friday with special services and speakers at Nassau Presbyterian Church and the Titusville Presbyterian Church. The theme this year is "Heart Change--Global Change," and the symbolism of water will be emphasized.

At the Nassau Street Church the service will be at 10:30 and will feature former missionaries in Southeast Asia, the Rev. Ernest Fogg and his wife C'lee, who is a native of Thailand. During and immediately after the Vietnam War, Mr. Fogg went into North Vietnam to help bring about reconciliation and understanding. The congregation will take part in symbolic acts involving water.

Participants are invited to bring a sandwich for lunch after the service. Beverages and dessert will be provided, and babysitting is available. For more information call Mrs. Homer Jones, 921-9575.

The Church Women United of Pennington and Titusville will celebrate World Community Day with dessert served at 12:30. The program will begin in the sanctuary at 1:15 when the Rev. Masahiko Sawa, a minister of the United Church of Christ in Japan, will give the message. Mr. Sawa, who is currently a visiting fellow at Princeton Seminary, was a missionary to Korea for over four years. He will use Phillipians as his scriptural text and will talk about his personal concern for having the Christian witness spread throughout the world.

World Community Day gives united Christian women the opportunity "to come together in a visible fellowship to witness their faith...to go out together into every neighborhood and nation as instruments of His reconciling love," and also to share in the offering which is designated by the Intercontinental Mission to aid diverse projects in many areas of the world.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Women's Guild of the Neshanic Reformed Church will hold its annual "Food and Fancy" lunch and bazaar Saturday from 10 to 3 in Brookside Hall, adjacent to the church on Amwell and Main Roads, Neshanic. The kitchen cupboard will have homemade preserves, salad dressing, and frozen casseroles, the piggy bank booth will give youngsters an opportunity to spend their own money, and the youth group will offer new children's sizes infant to toddler at less than half price. Lunch will also be available.

The adult class at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, which meets from 9:45 to 10:45 will hear Michael Bruinooge discuss "Aging" this Sunday. Mr. Bruinooge, who does research for the New Jersey legislature in health and welfare, received his master's degree in social work from Rutgers University and graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1976.

Fox & Lazo,
the largest Realtor in the Delewere Valley, is expanding into the Princeton area and is looking for dedicated sales associates.

We've been in business since 1886. Last year, we did a sales volume of $58 million.

Now we're expanding aggressively.

Into the Philadelphia Main Line. Into Bucks County.

And Central New Jersey.

The man in charge of our Princeton Junction office is Jack Burke, our vice-president.

Jack blueprinted our expansion plan. And he's looking for the kind of people he knows can make it work.

A proven sales record would be nice—but it's not mandatory. The right attitude is. And our two-week training program will get you off on the right foot.

Call or write Jack today. This is probably what you've been waiting for.

One-Time Member of Estonian Underground, Now a Princetonian, Is Adept at Telling You How to Go Out of Bounds and Enjoy It

People who are good at something aren't necessarily very good at telling other people how to do it.

But Eugene Raudsepp is a creative man who knows how to help people become creative. He earns his living at it. His dramatic life history is an example of it. And he has fun with it, as you'll see in his fifth and latest book, "Creative Growth Games."

"People stay too much within bounds," says this man who has been leaping over bounds most of his life.

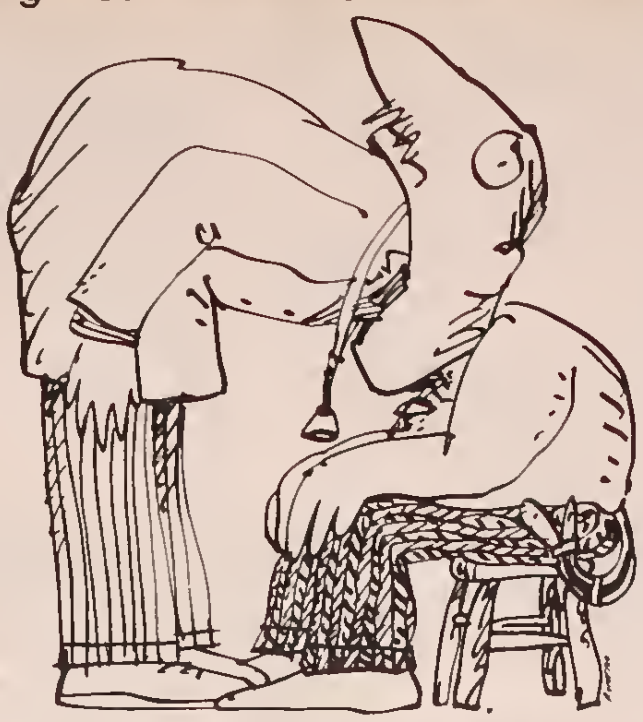
Although his bounds at the moment are the delightful attic angles of a top-floor office in the old 10 Nassau building, it is clear that he could be--and has been--creative anywhere.

Dr. Raudsepp is Princeton Creative Research, Inc. He does workshop seminars for such corporations as ITT, RCA, IBM, Lederle, for the American Chemical Society, and so on. He's written some 330 articles for professional journals and popular magazines.

Excerpts from "Creative Growth Games" are in the current Playboy, Hydrocarbon Processing, Seventeen, Administrative Management, Machine Design and Psychology Today. Among others.

He wrote "Company Climate and Creativity," "What the Executive Should Know About Creating and Selling Ideas," "Managing Creative Scientists and Engineers." Best sellers, all.

A Trilingual Home. Behind Dr. Raudsepp's flawless English is a tantalizing accent, just a trace. His native tongue is Estonian, but his mother was German and his grandfather, a splendid and patriarchial Orthodox priest, brought Russian into the Raudsepp home. Growing up in a tri-lingual home, a child becomes creative--or else.



WRITE YOUR OWN CAPTION: How many captions can you think up for this cartoon? Author-psychologist Eugene Raudsepp includes the cartoon in his book on creative games and invites you to stretch your imagination in thinking up captions. Other cartoons, fanciful drawings and pencil puzzles challenge the reader's creativity.

In "Creative Growth" Dr. Raudsepp says it isn't enough to adapt passively to change. You must learn to become an active participant in the change process, either to bring about the change you want, or to forestall the change you don't want.

To be a native Estonian of Dr. Raudsepp's age is to have had change thrust upon you.

He was in the Estonian underground during the war, was captured by the Germans and put in a concentration camp for seven months.

"I was lucky I was not shipped to Germany," he says calmly.

In fact, he was released on condition that he join the German Army. Sensing a certain lack of creativity in this option, he managed to escape to Finland.

In Sweden, Music. That wasn't much better because of the Russians, and soon he was in Stockholm. He still has warm and grateful feelings toward the Swedes and their hospitable treatment of refugees.

Hospitality aside, the jobs available in Sweden were only menial ones, so teen-ager Eugene auditioned for a job with one of the Big Bands playing a Swedish resort dance-hall.

"I got a job as crooner," he smiles, "you know, it was the era of the Big Bands, and I sang with the band for two years. But in 1946, I decided it was a frivolous life so I emigrated to the United States."

The Swedish crooner then became an American psychology student. Why psychology?

"Because I'd always wanted to write, and I wanted to learn more about people."

The academic route took him from the University of Stockholm to Bates College, Iowa State and Princeton.

An Element of Risk. Yes, he has been back to Europe. In the late '60s, he spent three years based in Munich as internal consultant for Radio Liberty.

No, he has not--and probably will not--go back behind the Iron Curtain, although his mother and brother are still in Estonia. His brother is an opera conductor there.

"There is the possibility one might disappear," he says blandly.

But his own escape, and the stories of refugees he heard in Munich have sown the creative seeds of what he hopes will be his next book.

"Great escape stories!" he says, with quiet enthusiasm, "I know of some 300 people I'd like to interview, selecting the best. Great potential here! I see movies, a TV series--let's think big!"

"It would be a nice change of pace from industrial creativity! But it would require a sizeable publisher's advance...so I don't know. I would incorporate all kinds of escapes since World War II, from the whole political spectrum–Right and Left.

Six Languages in All. Interviewing the refugees shouldn't be a problem; Dr. Raudsepp speaks Swedish, Portuguese and, of course, English in addition to the three languages of his childhood. He wrote a book in Portuguese, by the way. "...had a bit of help with the Portuguese, however." The book grew out of three years in Rio de Janeiro as visiting professor with the Getulio Vargas Foundation.

So, how can Dr. Raudsepp help you become more creative?

Turn to any page in his paperback book. Maybe you'll find the sketch of a puzzle to work. Maybe a scenario like this one: (which has a nice Princeton touch):

"A large hospital organizes an annual 'Fete' in the community to raise money....This year, income from the 'Fete' far exceeded the proceeds from previous years."

How many explanations can you think of to account for this?

Searching out connections between things that are not apparently related at all is

New McCarter Musical Authored By Man Who Wrote for Triangle

"Light-hearted but not sappy," is the way Clark Gesner described his new musical to a McCarter press-conference last week, and when a reporter, with previous McCarter seasons and previous McCarter plays in mind, asked Mr. Gesner whether "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall" is an allegory, or a metaphor relating to something or other, Mr. Gesner grinned and said,

"No."

Boyish as his own Charlie Brown, but considerably more successful on the playing-fields of life – so to speak – Clark Gesner has been writing for and about youth ever since he showed up at Triangle Club when he was a Princeton University freshman.

For four years, until his graduation in 1960, he wrote for Triangle. Remember "For Heavens Sake"? Remember "Breakfast in Bedlam"? In fact, his Triangle years made him a little uneasy when he came back to McCarter with "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall."

"This is a great, frivolous, romping musical and Triangle tends to be that, too, so I was rather reluctant to come here...."

In the Beginning. After McCarter and Triangle and the University, he got a job as cue-card boy for "Captain Kangaroo," and after a stint in the Army, went back to that children's TV show as a writer. It gave him a lot of experience in writing a lot of material .... quantities of material, endless reams of material.

He's also done about 50 short films for "Sesame Street," and "The Electric Company," but he shrugs when adults insist on knowing WHAT he wrote.

"Kids know," he told the reporters, but he finally did say, well, he did the one about the black dot trying to get up a hill.

He also wrote for TV's "That Was the Week that Was," Julius Monk's "Plaza-9 revues and Leonard Sillman's "New Faces."

"You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," was produced when Gesner had only been out of college seven years. It ran four years off-Broadway, and has since been produced by every community theatre, high-school drama club, community center and church group in the entire world.

This does not make Mr. Gesner unhappy, needless to say. But he did warn the press that "Morrissey" is cut from bigger cloth. "You just won't be able to do it in a gym or a church," he commented.

For Everyone. It's a family musical, by the way, with "nothing offensive in it." It has what its author calls "back-door exposition," in which you don't learn what you just saw in a scene until a later scene.

"It's for children, intellectuals, people who like a good show."

Two years ago, he sent the script for "Morrissey Hall" to Nagle Jackson, who directed its first productioo. That was the summer of 1976 on the west coast. This is essentially that production, although Gesner says, "We re-thought the way we did some things."

How about re-writing, anyway?

Smiling – Clark Gesner is a smiling man – the playwright says he goes into a hole to write, and:

"When I come out of that hole, I consider that what I've written is finished. I'm a different person when I'm writing, and to be asked to change a line, would be like asking someone else to make the change."

Essential Facts. Professionalism, he points out, consists of knowing how far the dressing-rooms are, how long it will take to change a costume, how the audience will feel, why a certain scene won't work.

If you don't re-write, one reporter observed, you have to find a director who's satisfied with what you've written.

"I have!" exclaimed Mr. Gesner, and gave Mr. Jackson, sitting next to him, a gleeful mock hug.

ANOTHER NEW PLAY

McCarter Changes Schedule. Legal tangles have now been straightened out, and McCarter Theatre will be able to present on December 1 the American premiere of E.A. Whitehead's adult drama, "Old Flames."

Last spring, when producing director Michael Kahn was planning this season's presentations, he chose "Old Flames"; however, during the summer, Mr. Whitehead's agents told McCarter that because of productions elsewhere, the rights would not be available in time for a

'77-'78 production in Princeton.

Since that was the case, McCarter scheduled Eduardo De Filippo's "Grand Magic" for the December time slot. The agents have recently informed McCarter that the rights to "Old Flames" are now clear, so Mr. Kahn is now preparing the play for its December premiere. The story line concerns a confrontation between a man and the women in his past.

If McCarter can extend its option, "Grand Magic" will be presented next season.

"GODSPELL"

Opens Friday. "The enthusiasm within this cast is dynamic," and co-director Camilla Carpenter exudes her own enthusiasm in talking about the progress of the show, "Each rehearsal seemingly brings the cast closer together and this camaraderie manifests itself on the stage. And isn't that what this show's all about?"

The show is "Godspell," Triangle Club's sixth annual fall production, opening this Friday at 8 p.m. in the newly remodeled theatre at 185 Nassau. Tickets are on sale at the McCarter box-office, and will also be available at 185 Nassau the nights of performances.

Dates of performance are, besides Friday, this Saturday and Sunday and next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 10, 11, 12 and 13.

Show time is 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays; 7:30 p.m. Sunday, November 6; 7 p.m. and again at 10 p.m. on Saturday, November 12, and 3 p.m. on Sunday, November 13.

...IN HER PRIME

"Jean Brodie" to Open. Princeton Community Players will launch its season this Friday with a production of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," the play about life in a Scottish girls' school in the 1930s.

Diana Crane, who plays the title role, is a native of England who has made her home in Princeton since 1967. She is head of the German department at The Lawrenceville School.

Theatre-goers will recall her performances in Inn Cabaret for the past three summers, and her appearance as the Countess in "A Little Night Music" for P.J. & B. She has been in Players' pruductions of "The Madwoman of Chaillot," "Toys in the Attic", "And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little" and "U.S.A."

Churchill Clark, who directs the English and drama departments at South Brunswick High School, will portray one of Miss Brodie's lovers (Teddy Lloyd, the art teacher) and William LaTouche will play the other (Gordon Lowther). Mr. LaTouche is on the staff of Antioch College's human services program in Philadelphia.

Mr. Clark has appeared in both community and professional productions, appearing in some 60 different roles, including Stanley in "A Streetcar Named Desire," Starbuck in "The Rainmaker" and Harry in "Luv."

Mr. LaTouche is making his Players' debut with his portrayal of Lowther, having performed for other groups in "Pride and Prejudice," "Dog in the Stars," "Pied Piper of Hamlin" and others.

The cast will also include Dorothy Edwards as Miss Mackay, Jane Beard as Sandy, Nina Mankin as Mary MacGregor, Christine Cragg as Monica and Robin Buckingham as Jenny.

Susan Tapper, who is on the drama faculty at Trenton State and also teaches drama at Stuart Country Day School, is directing "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." A graduate of the University of Connecticut masters program in directing, she has directed productions of "Guys and Dolls," "Forty Carats" and "Godspell."

"Brodie" will be given this Saturday and Sunday; Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 11, 12 and 13 and Friday and Saturday, November 18 and 19. All curtain-times are 8:30 except for Sundays, which are 7:30.

FIRST FILM PLANNED

In Library Series. The Public Library will present the feature film "Wuthering Heights" with Lawrence Olivier and Merle Oberon on Thursday, November 17, at 8.

The film is a 1939 Samuel Goldwyn production based on the novel by Emily Bronte. It is the first in a new series of four films made possible by the Friends of the Public Library through a bequest of the late Edith Barenholtz. The free showing will last one hour and 45 minutes.

KEEP KARL WEIDEL VOTING FOR YOU.

• You've elected Karl Weidel to serve you in the Assembly four times so far. In these eight years he has cast his vote on more than 7,000 bills with you in mind. He has consistently supported the legitimate aims of state government — programs to protect consumers, preserve our environment, assist the disabled and elderly to live with dignity, combat crime and promote safety for the average citizen, and stimulate our economy. At the same time, he has fought hard to cut unnecessary costs of state government, combat the growth of mindless bureaucracy, reform election laws, reduce local property taxes, and preserve local control.

You can count on this man of independent and courageous judgment to continue voting for you.

MUSIC In Princeton

SOPRANO TO SING

In McCarter Concert. Jessye Norman, Georgia-born dramatic soprano, will present a program ranging from Purcell to Satie when she appears in the Music-at-McCarter program next Monday at 8 in McCarter.

Educated at Howard University, the Peabody Conservatory and the University of Michigan, Miss Norman won first prize in 1968 at the International Music Competition in Munich. She was 23 at the time.

The singer's repertory includes not only lieder and opera, but the atonal compositions of Anton Berg. For her McCarter appearance, she has chosen Dido's lament from Purcell's "Dido and Anaes," songs by Beethoven and Richard Strauss, "Trois Melodies de 1969" by Eric Satie and songs by Debussy, including "L'Air de Lia."

FOOTBALL CONCERT SET

By Yale and Princeton. The Yale Glee Club, conducted by Fenno Heath, will join the Princeton Glee Club, conducted by Walter Nollner, for the annual Football Concert Friday from 8-9:15 in Alexander Hall. The two groups will present a program ranging from Renaissance motets to Princeton and Yale songs.

Yale will begin the concert with compositions by the early composers Orzio Vecchi and Hans Leo Hassler and will also include motets by Anton Bruckner and Francis Poulenc in their first group of selections. Yale's second group will contain a number of American folksongs, including several arranged by Mr. Heath. A medley of Yale football songs will conclude the offering.

The Princeton Glee Club will sing a program of chiefly British works, including works written by the Elizabethan composers Orlando Gibbons, William Byrd and Thomas Weelbes. Included are two settings of the text "Hosanna to the Son of David," the famous madrigals "The silver swan" and "Hark! all ye lovely saints above," Byrd's setting of "Ave verum corpus" and "Hey ho to the greenwood." English folksongs by Ralph Vaughan Williams and Gustav Holst, followed by the "Princeton Football Medley," arranged by Mr. Nollner, complete the Princeton part of the program.

Both choruses will join in singing the alma maters of both schools.

SOPRANO IN CONCERT: Jessye Norman will sing from the works of Richard Strauss and Beethoven at her Music-at-McCarter concert Monday.

SYMPHONY AT MCCARTER

In First of Four Concerts. The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will inaugurate its 1977-1978 Princeton Series with the first of four concerts at McCarter Theatre on Wednesday, November 9, at 8:30.

Jesse Levine, who also conducted last season's opening performance and the two Youth Concerts held here, will once again take the podium. The program includes Mozart's Symphony No. 41 in C Major the 'Jupiter', Mozart's Motet, Exultate, Jubilate and Mahler's Symphony No. 4 in G Major.

Miss Barbara Hocher, soprano, will be the soloist in Mozart's Motet and the Mahler symphony. In recent seasons she has performed with the New York City Opera and the Goldovsky Opera Company and at Tanglewood, as well as other major state opera companies, and as a soloist with leading symphony orchestras.

John Ellis, musicologist, pianist and chairman of the Lawrenceville School Music Department, will give his first pre-concert lecture at 12 noon Monday at the Westminster Choir College in the Bristol Chapel. These lectures are designed to explicate the concert and enhance the listener's enjoyment of the music by describing its background and structure. The public is welcome at $2. Admission is free to members of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League.

The second concert on January 25 will also be preceded by a lecture by Mr. Ellis on Monday, January 23. Other future events include Symphony concerts on March 8 and May 3 and a children's concert, Thursday, April 13.

"MARQUISE OF O"

And then....Movies-at-McCarter reel on and on, the next one being Eric Rohmer's "The Marquise of O," booked into McCosh 10 at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 8 and 9.

Film buffs know Rohmer for "My Night at Maude's" and "Claire's Knee." the present film, "The Marquise of O," is his adaptation of an early 19th century novella by Heinrich Von Kleist. It relates the story of a noblewoman who becomes pregnant after she has been raped in her sleep. Although her family rejects her, she insists upon her innocence and finally solves her problem in ways which McCarter will not reveal lest publicity spoil audience enjoyment of the ending.

Next will come Werner Herzog's dream-like story of conquistadores in South America--"Aguirre: The Wrath of God." It will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday, November 15 and 16 at 7 p.m. and 8:45.

Tickets may be purchased at the McCarter box-office the day of performance, or one hour before screening at 10 McCosh

ART In Princeton

PLASTER DOMINATES In Next Exhibit at Squibb. The plaster figures of Carol Parker will move into Squibb Gallery November 17 to command the space through December 18. The public is invited to the exhibition opening, Thursday, November 17, from 5 - 7:30 to meet the young artist.

More than 30 life-size burlap and plaster figures have been created by Miss Parker for this exhibition, entitled "Extended Range." They will dominate the Squibb Gallery space as it has never been used before -- striding, dancing, leaping across the area up to and through the outer glass walls, onto the terrace beyond.

Modeled after the artist's own physical dimensions, the hollowed-out figures have mask-like faces and various sections missing. Art Critic William Zimmer said of them, "One is led to ponder whether each figure is a separate individual or whether the skein of bodies is a single person caught in various halted movements..."

The figures' expressive strength comes from the gestures of their arms, cast from the artist's own. Miss Parker first wraps her arms in aluminum foil, then in plaster-soaked burlap, and waits 20 minutes for the plaster to set. A bit uncomfortable, she admits, but it also gives her an uncommon feeling for a figure's motion, as she must assume each pose herself.

Not always a sculptor, Miss Parker concentrated on painting early in her career. But her paintings evolved more or less into soft sculptures when she began to sew and stuff her painted canvases. She also attached three-dimensional papier-mache forms to the flat canvases, making relief paintings. She first used plaster in a figurative form in 1971. She continues to show an interest in two-dimensional surfaces and often uses drawings with her sculptural installations.

Squibb Gallery is in the World Headquarters of E.R. Squibb & Sons, international pharmaceutical company, on Route 206 three miles south of Princeton. Gallery hours are 9 to 4:30 Monday through Friday, until 9 p.m. on Thursday, and 1-5 on Sunday. The gallery is closed on Saturday.

MIXED MEDIA ON VIEW By Lawrenceville Teacher. A one man exhibition of painting and pottery by Jerry Sarkisian, faculty member of The Lawrenceville School, will open on Monday at the Triangle Art Center, Route 1 and Darrah Lane, Lawrence Township.

Mr. Sarkisian's pottery is stoneware and uses a unique clay that has a jet black color. Oil and acrylics are both utilized by Mr. Sarkisian in a variety of subject matter and technique. Subjects range from reminiscent scenes of Greece to his own abstract visions of life.

Techniques run the gamut from photo-realism to his own adaptation of pointillism utilizing his personal theories

"one of the most potent creative techniques," Dr. Raudsepp says. And he gives you some games to stretch your imagination along those lines.

Here's another..."What would happen if you had two eyes in the back of your head?" Dr. Raudsepp can think of 12 things, quick as you can read the page.

One or two of the pencil games will be familiar to you, but all the rest have come from the author's own creative head.

He is candid about his own creative gifts.

"Yes, I have creative hobbies: painting, composing music."

"My dream is to go into publishing," he reveals, and although a commercial publisher has brought out "Creative Growth Games," he has lots of copies in those cartons on the floor of his office. You may have one by sending $4.45 to Princeton Creative Research Inc., Box 122, Princeton, N.J.

WORKSHOP PLANNED

In Rug Hooking. A hooked rug workshop will be offered by the Historical Society on Thursday, November 10, from 10 to 2 at Bainbridge House. The instructor will be Magdalena Houlroyd, a former assistant professor and curator of special collections at Glassboro State College Library who has been making hooked rugs and studying the craft for more than 25 years.

Miss Houlroyd will talk about the historical background of hooked rugs and give a demonstration of the craft using some of her own collection as examples. Participants will learn to hook in a straight line, a curved line, and in a circle, each time getting the right tension to keep the loops even. A kit with necessary materials – a small frame and burlap, hook, thumbtacks, and woolen strips – will be provided for each person.

Since space for the workshop is limited, reservations should be made by calling the Society, 921-6748, by Friday. There will be a $5 fee for materials, and participants should plan to bring a hammer, laundry marker pen, ruler, scissors, and if possible, old wool materials. They may bring a sandwich and eat while working or go out for lunch.

ELECT THE LEGISLATIVE TEAM THAT WILL GET THE JOB DONE

FORAN•MEREDITH•WEIDEL
Senate Assembly Assembly

The team of Walter Foran and Karl Weidel has worked hard for you in the Assembly for eight years. Now the prospects for getting the tough jobs done look even better with Walt Foran moving to the Senate and Regina Meredith joining Karl Weidel in the Assembly.

HERE ARE THE JOBS THEY WANT TO GET DONE:

JOBS AND THE ECONOMY

We must stimulate the economy and put people back to work. We need a new attitude by state government that will attract and keep business and industry in New Jersey and create thousands of new jobs. We favor tax abatements and incentives to encourage plant expansion.

ENERGY AND THE ENVIRONMENT

We must carefully strike a balance between economic and environmental needs. We need to update solid waste services, develop programs to preserve farmland and Green Acres, keep our rivers and shores clean and stop ocean dumping. We need an energy master plan for realistic off-shore exploration and development of solar energy.

GOVERNMENT BUREAUCRACY

It is time that the cost of state government be held down, that we put a stop to waste and duplication, that there be tighter controls on state spending. We are committed to property tax relief through such programs as rural aid and in lieu tax payments to municipalities. We need "legislative oversight" to be sure state departments are carrying out the intent of programs enacted by the Legislature.

HOME RULE AND LOCAL CONTROL

We are dedicated to the principle that government closest to the people is best for deciding matters of local concern. We are opposed to the proposed alignment of Interstate 95 because of what it will do to the area. We will continue to fight for the dualization of Route 31 for the safety of the people who live nearby or travel that highway. We favor retaining local control of such matters as zoning and land use.

CHILDREN INVITED

To Share Jokes at Library. Riddles, tongue twisters, jokes, jests, superstitions and tall tales are Alvin Schwartz's stock in trade. The Princeton author will be at the Public Library on Wednesday, November 9, at 3:30. He invites children ages 8-14 to share with him scary tales, folk puzzles, song material, code language or nonsense rhymes which they have heard from parents, grandparents and friends or during travel in other lands.

Mr. Schwartz will then talk about his work and how he gathers his materials. He will bring galleys, color separations and the uncut sheets from which the final books emerge. Part of the afternoon will be devoted to a puzzle and tongue twister contest.

Registration at the children's desk is on a first come, first served basis.

DISCUSSION PLANNED

On Saving Energy. "How to Keep Warm This Winter Without Going Broke" is the title of a panel discussion Thursday at 1 in the Paul Robeson Cultural Arts Center (formerly the Youth Center), 102 Witherspoon Street.

The discussion will be by Len Newton, energy consultant; Jimm Brooks, insulation specialist; and Alan Glueck, environmental engineer. They will present many inexpensive ways to save on fuel bills. The public is invited.

COUNSELING OFFERED

For "Non-Traditional Learners." A Counseling concept designed to help non-traditoinal learners achieve their educational and career goals is being tested in New Jersey with federal funds for possible application throughout the country.

Known as "Centers for Educational and Career Choices," the demonstration project is operated by the Princeton-based New Jersey Education Consortium. A two-year grant from the Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education, a program of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, partially supports the project.

The past year has been spent developing the procedures and resources necessary to what is considered a uniquely-comprehensive approach to educational and career counseling. Now the Consortium is ready to begin a full-scale counseling operation.

Services presently are available in Princeton, Trenton, Perth Amboy, Camden and surrounding communities. Anyone is welcome to participate, but past experience by the Consortium indicates that the following categories of persons are most likely to benefit from the CECC program:

1) Young people ready to enter the job market for the first time; 2) Mature women either searching for a career for the first time or returning to the job market after years at home.

3) Mid-career people who want to change, are unemployed, face technological obsolescence, or who suddenly feel the need to continue their education. 4) Pre-retirement and senior citizens who want to pursue an interest for which they never previously had time. 5) Handicapped persons ready to take advantage of opportunities to transcend those handicaps which have previously blocked them from career satisfactions.

Those interested should write the Centers for Educational and Career Choices at 228 Alexander Street, Princeton, or call 921-2021 for further information.

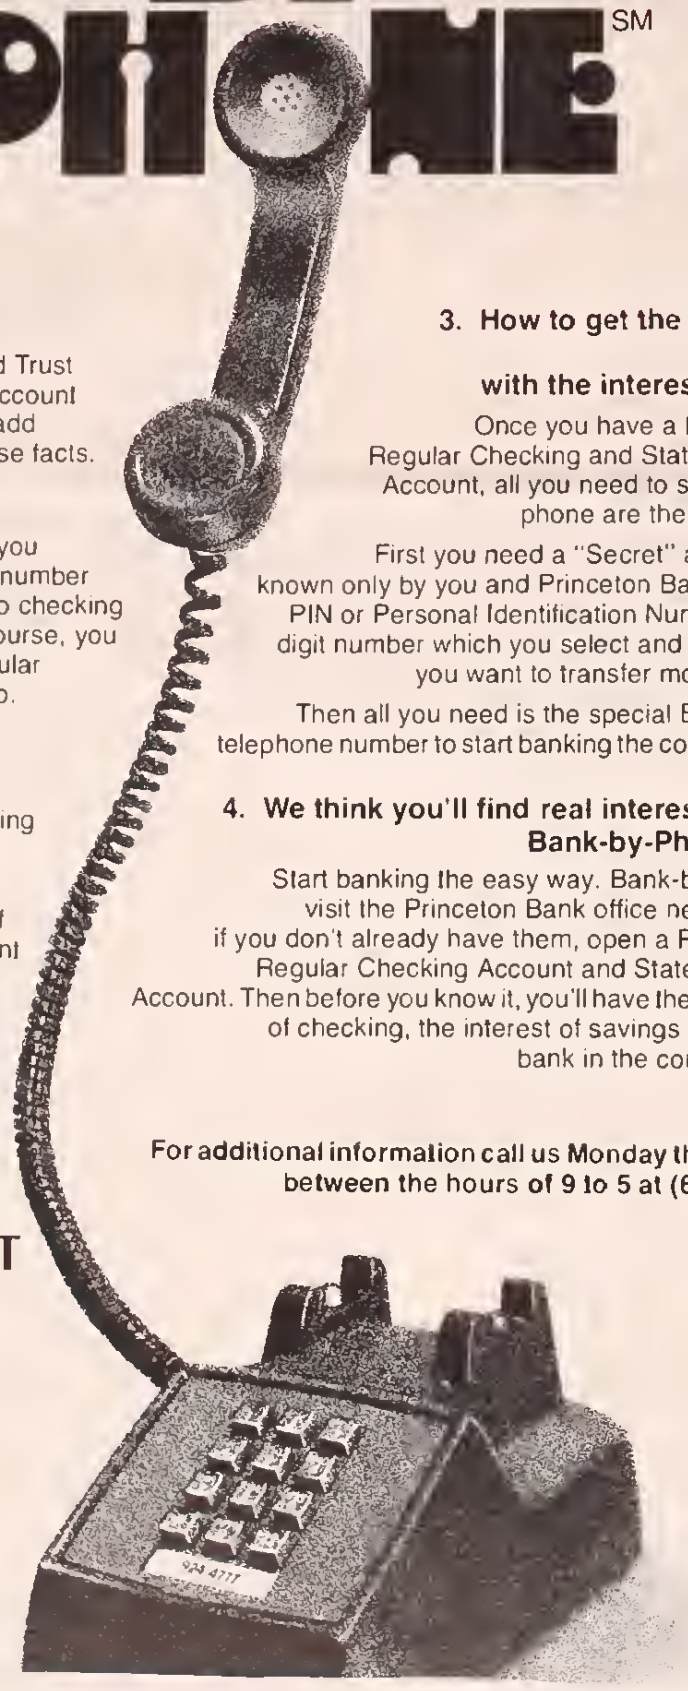
The Most interesting thing about BANK BY PHONE℠ is Interest.



Bank-by-Phone is a new service from Princeton Bank and Trust Company that lets you transfer money to your checking account from your savings account by phone! To see how it can add interest and convenience to your banking, just check these facts.

1. Transfer to convenience with interest.
Now your money can earn interest right up to the minute you need it. A quick phone call to our special Bank-by-Phone number and you can transfer the amount you need from savings to checking (minimum transfer $100) without leaving your home. Of course, you can use Bank-by-Phone to transfer money from your Regular Checking Account to your Statement Savings Account, too.

2. Save, check and earn.

All you have to do is have a Princeton Bank Regular Checking Account and a Princeton Bank Statement Savings Account.

Then you can keep most of your cash in your Statement Savings Account earning 5% interest. And there's another way you can save, too. Just keep a minimum balance of $1,000 in your savings account and your Regular Checking Account is free of all service charges.

3. How to get the convenience of checking with the interest of savings.

Once you have a Princeton Bank Regular Checking and Statement Savings Account, all you need to start banking by phone are the right numbers.

First you need a "Secret" access number known only by you and Princeton Bank. We call it a PIN or Personal Identification Number. It's a four digit number which you select and then use when you want to transfer money by phone.

Then all you need is the special Bank-by-Phone telephone number to start banking the convenient way.

4. We think you'll find real interest in our new Bank-by-Phone service.

Start banking the easy way. Bank-by-Phone. Just visit the Princeton Bank office nearest you and if you don't already have them, open a Princeton Bank Regular Checking Account and Statement Savings Account. 100th meeting between the two Ivy League Rivals

Tiger Hopes for Ending Yale's 10-Year Streak Fade after Losing Sixth in Row to Penn, 21-10

ONE OF SIX: Kirby Lockhart was the victim of six sacks in the Penn game Saturday as Quakers smothered Princeton offense in second half. Here tackle Jeff Ellis (64) is about to deck him for seven-yard loss, making Tigers' fourth-quarter catch-up ball a difficult task. (Bob Matthews Photo)

Two unusual statistics will mark Saturday's meeting at 1:30 in Palmer Stadium between the Yale and Princeton football teams. The contest will be the 100th in the series involving the Bulldog and the Tiger since they first met in 1873, and the men from New Haven will be favored to win their 11th in a row over their traditional rivals, who again find themselves in considerable disarray.

Ten days ago, after Princeton had convincingly defeated Harvard by 13 points, it appeared that the Orange and Black had a good chance of severing the long string of losses that began here in 1967 with a 29-7 shellacking at the hands of the Blue. But Yale has become progressively more impressive since its narrow 3-0 loss to Dartmouth, while the Tigers are coming off a totally flat second-half performance that cost them their sixth straight defeat at the hands of Pennsylvania. As much as anything else, this long series of setbacks at the hands of Penn teams which themselves do not go anywhere in the Ivy League symbolizes the endless problems that Princeton football is encountering.

Now the Tigers will try again to best the opponent which has failed to beat them by less than a touchdown only twice in ten years. In a free-scoring contest in 1970, the outcome was 27-22; a year later, two truly mediocre teams left the field with a 10-6 final on the board. Other than that, Yale's margin has ranged from 13 to 32 points, and on some occasions, doubt about the outcome ceased to exist before the first half had ended.

Although tied for the Ivy lead with Dartmouth, this is not one of the truly impressive Yale teams the Elis have fielded in the recent past. In compiling an overall 5-2 mark, it barely edged Brown on opening day, 10-9; was decisively beaten, 28-14, by Miami of Ohio, and could not score in losing to Dartmouth. In the past three weeks, however, the problems at quarterback that appeared to be keeping running back John Pagliaro from reaching top form have been solved and he has averaged better than 150 yards against Columbia, Penn and Cornell.

A Great Back. Pagliaro led the Ivies as a junior in both rushing and scoring (three of his 12 touchdowns came in the 39-7 victory over Princeton in the Bowl) and this year he is ahead of his 1976 pace despite a slow start. It was his performance against Penn (two touchdowns and three times the yardage that Bobby Isom managed against the Quakers) that brought the Elis from behind in that contest.

The Yale quarterback is Bob Rizzo, who complements the running game well by passing about a fifth of the time and achieving a fine percentage just under 60. He runs keepers on occasion but the principal ball carriers, other than Pagliaro, are fullback Rick Angelone and wingback John Nubani. Nubani and end John Spagnola are Rizzo's chief targets. John Hatem, a fine back a year ago but slowed by injuries this fall, has now dropped out of college for personal reasons.

Defensively, Yale has occasionally found itself thoroughly pressed, but Princeton's inconsistent attack does not appear to have the fire to rekindle the candle that burned out ten years ago. Unlike Harvard, Yale is almost never caught napping by an underdog opponent, and with at least a share of the Ivy crown within reach, the Blue will be at its best on Saturday.

PENN RALLY WINS

Just as Last Year. For the second year in a row, Princeton lost a second half lead and the ball game to Pennsylvania. Taking a 10-7 margin into the dressing room at Franklin Field, the Tigers came back to give one of their worst second-half performances in recent years, losing 21 to 10, to a team that was totally lacking in passing ability and yet won convincingly without gaining a yard in the air.

After a relatively satisfactory first-half, capped by a 10-minute stretch in the second period that produced 10 points in as many minutes, the Tigers unaccountably ceased playing any semblance

QUICK LOOK AT YALE

OFFENSE: Running game dominates, built around super-star John Pagliaro, who leads East in touchdowns this season with 11. Elis have moved ball well against every Ivy team but Dartmouth.

DEFENSE: Not as superlative as best of Yale teams in recent years but has allowed less than two touchdowns on average to five Ivy opponents and appears to be adequate to handle Princeton.

CHIEF ASSET: Pagliaro, who will conclude his career next week with well over 2,000 yards rushing, second in Yale history only to Dick Jauron. With two games left, he already has 31 TDs, three more than Jauron.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Offense stuttered until mid-season but low point-total in last three games is 27

TYPE OF ATTACK: Multiple.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

It's amazing to see the weights of the men who made up one of football's most famous backfields -- the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame in the 1920s ... Their weights are unheard of in today's college football ... The quarterback of that famous team, Harry Stuhldreher, weighed 148 pounds; fullback Don Miller weighed 158, halfback Elmer Layden weighed 161, and halfback Jim Crowley weighed 157! ... Thus that backfield averaged only 156 pounds per man! ... Today's backs average at least 30 to 40 pounds more.

Did you know that several teams in the National Football League have changed their team colors over the years ... For instance, Green Bay at one time used blue and gold instead of the current green and gold ... Denver was originally brown and gold instead of the orange and blue of today ... The New York Jets started with blue and gold instead of today's green and white ... And the Baltimore Colts originally were green and silver instead of today's blue and white.

Who was the last player to play regularly on BOTH offense AND defense in the National Football League? ... Answer is Chuck Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles who played offense and defense (center and linebacker) in 1962 – and no NFL regular has done it since.

If you have a fire loss, you must substantiate your claim – pictures of all your rooms, silverware and jewelry would prove very helpful.

of take-charge football. In the final half, they:

● Gained a total of just 42 yards (after having totalled 198 in the first two periods, and ran just three plays in Penn territory. More than half the 42 yards and all three of the plays came with less than two minutes left and Penn leading by 11 points.

● Saw their offensive blocking break down so badly that the four quarterback sacks perpetrated on Kirby Lockhart reduced their net yards gained rushing to seven.

● Achieved these statistics against the team with the poorest defensive record in the Ivy League, one that had yielded 367 yards on average to four previous opponents and then cut the Tigers down to 240.

The contest was largely devoid of the dramatic play, Penn winning because it managed to punch out short yardage consistently, whereas the losers could not. The Quakers drove 73 yards in 11 plays for a second-quarter touchdown; 35 yards in nine for the go-ahead tally in the third, and then used an unusual 16 plays without stalling out while going 70 yards for the insurance TD early in the final period.

Princeton dominated only the last 10 minutes of the second quarter, getting its lone touchdown on a 15-play drive that covered 82 yards with Isom going in on a pitchout left for the final two. After regaining possession following the kickoff, the Tigers settled for a 35-yard Chris Howe field goal 18 seconds before the half ended. Had Isom's halfback pass been good enough, he would have connected with tight end Frank Vuono in the end zone from the 13, but it was short and very nearly picked off.

Pennsylvania's major success with the wishbone this season is a tribute to the coaching ability of Harry Gamble. Confronted with the knowledge that he lacked a quarterback who has any semblance of passing ability, he concentrated on developing a running game which blends good blocking with deception and constant options. So well has he succeeded that in its seventh game, Penn broke its one-season record for yards gained rushing.

"We haven't got an Isom on our team, and we are poorer defensively than Princeton by 100 yards a game," he said at a press luncheon before the contest. His fullback, Denis Grosvenor, then proceeded to run for 140 yards -- 44 more than all Princeton ball carriers managed -- and his questionable defense held Isom to 53, far and away the Tiger back's poorest performance of the year.

—Donald C. Stuart

Yards Gained Passing: 0

When Pennsylvania threw only three passes and completed none Saturday against Princeton, the somewhat unusual statistics merely tied one record and broke none. The lone mark equalled was that of no completions, but the Penn team of 1956 had already gone into the books on that count in its game with the Tigers.

In 1963, Harvard set the record for fewest attempts--1. And in 1947, Brown set the record for fewest yards gained passing, not zero but minus 3. Both the Harvard teams of 1963 and Penn of 1977 proved that it is possible to beat an opponent without completing a pass--each scoring three touchdowns to one for the Tigers. The difference was that the game at Cambridge was played in the rain on a mud-caked field, while at Philadelphia Saturday, bright sunshine prevailed.

PHS IS ELIMINATED

From NJSIAA Tennis Tourney. Girls' tennis teams around the state can breath easier now – Princeton High School won't be able to kick them around anymore. Not this year.

The Little Tigers were eliminated Friday in the final round of the Central Jersey Group 2 NJSIAA state tournament, 4-1, by top-seeded Rumson-Fair Haven. PHS had advanced to the finals with a 5-0 victory over St. Bernards earlier in the week.

"They were a little too tough," said PHS coach Bill Humes. "Basically, they have the same team which we defeated last year. They must have improved and we didn't." The match was played in Rumson.

Princeton's one point came in the number one doubles when Lisa and Sarah Merians won. Princeton's other doubles pairing of Beth Ellis and Debbie Blair lost in three sets, but the three singles matches all resulted in two-set victories for Rumson-Fair Haven.

"Their three singles players were outstanding," said Humes, who especially singled out the victors' number one player, Heidi Hasch. She defeated Princeton's Karen Clark. Vicki Phillips and Diane Aronovic also lost singles matches for PHS. PHS was the defending Central Jersey Group 2 champion.

The only crown left for PHS to wear this year will be in the Colonial Valley Conference, where PHS is undefeated. It has two matches left with Hamilton and Lawrence, the latter its final CVC contest.

NEWCOMER IS WINNER

In Girls Tennis. Dolly Chugh, who moved to West Windsor this fall, has won the Township's girls under 12 years old singles title in a tournament sponsored by the recreation commission. She defeated Janet Pickens, the seeded player, 4-6, 7-6, 6-2.

Dolly had defeated Beth Brophy in a hard-fought semi-final, 7-6, 1-6, 7-6.

In the women's doubles competition, four teams have reached the semis.

Lorraine Haws and Emily Hunter defeated Penny Herlihy and Diane Cheney, 6-4, 6-1; Pat Atkinson and Thelma Bornheimer defeated Phyllis Sobelman and Sudesh Chugh, 6-3, 6-3; Gail Peck and Stephanie Katz defeated Alice Payne and Irene Cook, 6-3, 6-1; and Gwenda Little and Noreen Fallon defeated Anita Borak and Rita McMenamin, 6-1, 6-3.

PHS vs. EAST BRUNSWICK

In NJSIAA Soccer. Princeton High School's first-round opponent in the NJSIAA post-season state soccer championships will be East Brunswick.

The game will be played Tuesday at East Brunswick.

Since the home field is based according to the seeding, PHS coach Ed Beacham had hoped the Little Tigers would play the first game at home. This is the first time in years that PHS has been eligible for the NJSIAA tournament.

The previous day, it will play its final game of the regular season, opposing Notre Dame on the Irish's field in a contest that could determine the Colonial Valley Conference champion. Presently, PHS is 6-3-1 and Notre Dame 7-1-1 in league play.

The Little Tigers will play their final home game of the season on Thursday, when Lawrence High comes to town at 3:30. All PHS home games are at the Valley Road School field.

Last week, Princeton's league aspirations suffered a setback when the Blue and White was blanked, 3-0, by St. Anthony. "They did a fine defensive job on Ron Celestin," observed Beacham, as the home team shut down Princeton's scoring leader.

Two minutes into the game, St. Anthony's Kevin Kinnevy scored on a corner kick by Jack D'Agostino and that was all the scoring SA needed, although it added other goals in the second and final periods.

To take some of the pressure off Celestin, Beacham reported he has moved him back to center half and brought up sophomore Bruce Lifiton, who learned his soccer in Australia. "He has a lot of skill," said Beacham.

WW ELEVEN ROLLS ON

First Winning Season Assured. The West Windsor football team continued to make this a season to remember when it defeated Green Brook Saturday, 31-8. The outcome assured the Pirates, currently 4-1-1, of their first winning season ever.

WW once again relied on its powerful ground game, getting almost 300 yards from its two premier backs. Fullback Ron Dilatush gained 190 in 19 carries--the fourth straight game he has passed the 100 mark--and halfback Chris Gillette, the speedster, had 93. Mark Birnbaum chipped in with a 32-yard field goal.

The Pirates will oppose punchless St. Anthony Saturday morning at 11 on the Iron Mike Gridiron in a Colonial Valley League contest. The showdown with Hightstown for league honors is two games away.

HUN BELTS PDS, 34-10

Pingry Here Friday. Will Hun's big 34-10 victory Saturday over Princeton Day School pick up the previous winless Red and Black for its final home game of the season Friday against Pingry? "I'm sure it will," said Hun football coach Dave Leete.

It was six games coming but when it came, it came with a rush. "We finally put it all together," said Leete. "It was a good one to get."

Specifically, the season finally gelled for Hun in the Second period when it scored three times to take a 21-3 lead. After PDS had gone ahead 3-0 on a 23-yard field goal by Chris Price, Hun quarterback E.T. Roach passed 36 yards to Brian Lee for Hun's first score, passed 32 yards to Tom West for another and handed off to halfback Tom Adams, who went 46 yards for the third score.

"We picked out a little weakness," commented Leete. "We noticed their secondary came up pretty quickly on a run so we faked the run and threw a pass."

After the visiting Panthers scored the only TD in the third period, a 41-yard pass from Jeff Freda to Rob Olsson, Hun shut the door with two more scores in the final period. Sophomore Dave Wheaten scored from three yards out and Adams picked up his second six-pointer with an eight-yard gallop.

Adams finished with a 136 yards in 17 carries, while Roach completed eight of 14 attempts for 120 yards. Hun had two more scores in the final period that were nullified by penalities.

In addition to Roach and Adams, Leete awarded laurels to his team captain, tackle Bob Cronin, who excelled on both offense and defense, and to defensive halfback Craig Darvin who intercepted two PDS passes. The Hun defense limited PDS to 57 yards rushing.

Was it an upset? (PDS had defeated Hun for the first time last year.)

"We thought we had a good chance," replied Leete. "We play a lot tougher competition over the year and I think that has a lot to do with it."

FOUR WIN TITLES

In West Windsor Tennis. Lyle Menendez, Krista Schmidt, Douglas Sobelman and Marc Sobelman won tennis titles last week in West Windsor tournaments.

Menendez won the boys under 12 singles with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Ken Kendall in the finals and a 7-6, 6-4 win over Thomas Wang in the semifinals. Schmidt was the victor in the girls over 14 singles after a 6-1, 6-1 conquest of Pam Macleod in the finals. Krista had earlier defeated Kim Cunningham 6-1, 6-1 in the semi-finals.

The tennis-playing Sobelman family had two victories to celebrate. Marc was the victor in the Okker division of the boys over 14 singles after a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Dan Firth in the finals. Marc had won his semi-final match by default over Gary Levine. Douglas Sobelman captured the boys under 14 singles champ with a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Daniel Fallon in the finals. He had reached the finals after conquering Michael Firth in the semis 6-1, 6-1.

PDS WINS TENTH

In Soccer. A 4-2 victory over Newark Academy, the second-rated prep school in the state behind Lawrenceville in the A division, gave the Princeton Day soccer team its 10th victory in 11 starts last week. PDS, now 10-0-1, is trying to juggle several things at once as the season nears the end.

The post-season tournament to decide the state champion in the B division is underway (see story below) and the Blue and White is top-seeded in its bid to retain that title. On Wednesday, beginning at 3:15, the Panthers will entertain Lawrenceville in a regular season contest. The Panthers have never beaten the Larries in soccer and if they can do it this year, they could lay claim to being the top private school team in the state.

Along with this, the Blue and White is also working on their first-ever undefeated season. The pressure is on for the next two weeks.

Princeton Day got off to a bit of a shaky start against Newark Academy, falling behind 1-0, when Andy Sandford attempted to head a ball away from the goal and put it by goalie Johnny Rodgers, instead. It was the first time PDS had been behind in a game since the opener against Princeton High.

Mike Walters soon changed matters, however, scoring twice to give PDS a 2-1 half-time advantage. Newark tied it up in the third period, but Walters got his hat trick and put the Panthers ahead to stay later in the third. David McCord provided an insurance goal in the fourth period, heading in a cross from Evan Press. Jay Nusblatt had two assists and Jeff Patterson, one.

PDS WINS 5-0

Over Neumann Prep. The Princeton Day soccer team got off on the right foot in defense of its NJISAA Class B Prep School title Monday afternoon blanking Neumann Prep, 5-0.

Mike Walters and Evan Press had two goals apiece and Dave McCord, one, as the Panthers outshot Neumann, 32-3. Tony Dell and Johnny Rodgers split the goal tending duties for PDS.

In other NJISAA action, second-seeded Pennington was upset, 4-3, by Rutgers Prep. The Blue and White, which is seeking its fourth title in six years and second straight, next plays the winner of the Gill - St. Bernards vs. Englewood contest.

PDS LOSES TO HUN

Final Game Friday. Hun School demonstrated conclusively on Saturday that its 0-5 record did not mean much in a contest with its cross-town rival Princeton Day.

PLAYMAKER: Princeton Day's Jay Nusblatt is the man behind many of Mike Walters' goals this season, with four assists in the last two games, including two in the 4-2 victory over Newark Academy.

With teams like Peddie, Delbarton and Newark Academy on its schedule, Hun found itself on at least equal terms with an opponent for the first time this fall, and the Red Raiders wasted little time making an unequal contest of it, winning 34-10.

The loss wiped out Panther hopes of a winning record, dropping them to 2-4-1 overall, but the final game this Friday at home against Morristown-Beard still provides plenty of incentive. Originally scheduled for Saturday, the contest has been moved up one day and will begin at 3 p.m.

Like Hun, Morristown will come into the game without a win this season, and the Panthers do not want another losing streak stopped at their expense. Certainly not after last year when Morristown beat PDS 8-3 to snap a 22-game streak stretching back over three years.

A victory would give the Panthers a second-place tie in the Jersey Prep League with Pennington, who beat Morristown 47-6 last week. Morristown managed to hold Pennington to a 6-3 tie at the half, but fell apart after the intermission.

PDS Scores First. Princeton Day got off on the right foot against Hun, scoring on a 23-yard field goal by Chris Price, after their drive stalled out on the six. But that 3-0 lead did not hold up very long.

A couple of mental errors on pass defense gave Hun two quick touchdowns in the second period, and it scored once more before the half to lead 21-3.

The Panthers came briefly to life in the third period when a Jeff Freda to Rob Olsson screen pass clicked for 41 yards and a touchdown, but Hun scored twice more in the final stanza.

PHS Routs St. Anthony, Faces Lawrence Saturday

"Just like Ohio State," bubbled a Princeton High fan Saturday, after the Little Tiger football team had scored its second touchdown midway in the first period against St. Anthony's.

No, it wasn't the Buckeyes but then neither did the Blue and White team on the PHS field resemble previous Little Tiger teams. This team was moving the ball. Especially Barry Turner, who scored three touchdowns and rushed for over 100 yards, 66 in the first period.

By halftime, PHS had scored four times to match the entire output of its previous five games. At the end of three periods, PHS had a 44-0 lead. One would have to go back many years to find a Little Tiger team that enjoyed that wide a margin. The final score was 44-6, as PHS lost its shutout when a tipped pass ended in a St. Anthony touchdown.

BIG DAY FOR BARRY TURNER. Princeton High tailback Barry Turner scored three touchdowns and rushed for more than 100 yards to lead PHS to a 44-6 rout of visiting St. Anthony's Saturday. Here he bowls over a defender on his way to a first down at the St. Anthony 10-yard line.

True, this was not a whole St. Anthony team. The Iron Mikes were really the Plastic Mikes, having lost their starting quarterback the week before from a leg injury. In addition, SA coach Tony Nitti told Jim Beachell, his PHS counterpart, after the game that he had to go without two of his starting linemen as well. But he added, "I don't think it would have made any difference. Your team played a fine game."

A Collision Course. So, PHS should be charged up for its meeting Saturday with Lawrence High. But then so will the Cardinals. Lawrence was even more impressive than PHS in its last outing.

It entered its game against Notre Dame, a decided underdog, winless in five starts. Notre Dame was a heavy favorite. But Lawrence not only shocked the Irish, 16-14, it knocked them right out of contention in the Colonial Valley Conference race and the state playoffs.

Both Princeton's and Lawrence's victories were their first in the conference. Both would like to make it two in a row. The game will be played here, starting at 1:30. It will be the Little Tiger's final home game of the season.

Third Play, Six Points. PHS started early against St. Anthony and never let up. On the third play from scrimmage, Turner scored on an option play, going 35 yards. The home team scored again less than two minutes later when Peter Gorman covered an Iron Mike fumble on the visiters' three and Turner banged over.

The rest of the scoring for PHS went this way: Keith Wadsworth, nine-yard screen pass from Tommy Seiler; Bobby Campbell, 16-yard run with 1:54 left in the half; Turner, 44-yard run on a cut back; and Seiler, four-yard run. Turner also intercepted a pass and ran it back some 75 yards but penalties on both sides brought it back.

This was the best game for the PHS offensive line. Chris Cahill, Andre Intartaglia, Brian Cleveland, Cory Easter, Ian Broadwater, John Morris and John Forrey were charging off the ball, opening holes for Turner and Wadsworth.

A little simple psychology helped Beachell turn things around. "We made some switches to put some pressure on the seniors," he explained. The message was clear: if they wanted to keep their jobs they would have to play. "They started to play ball," said Beachell.

Defense Outstanding. As for the PHS defense, once again it was superb. St. Anthony's had no running game. The right side of the PHS defense of Gorman, Turner and Tony Intartaglia was a stone wall. Joe DiFalco, an end, filling in at quarterback, went to the air often but with little success. He did connect on a 33-yard

D pass to Eric Slafkovsky at was first tipped by Turner nd Intartaglia with 8:57 left the game.

"Our kids play so well, play tough on defense that it is ugh to run against us," said eachell.

Because Beachell wanted to eep the pressure on, he did ot turn to his jayvees until idway in the final period, but ventually he gave PHS llowers a first look at some ho will be playing next year.

Kiernan Esposito replaced eiler at quarterback. The nning backs were Tony emar, Mark Adams and hris McDonald.

With Seiler destined to move Connecticut, the quarrback position will be wide pen next year; "I can romise you that," said eachell. For the moment, eachell is still trying to get it l together.

"If we could avoid those itical mistakes we're still aking," he said after the St. nthony game. "It all comes om inexperience."

PHS BLANKED

In Soccer, 1-0. As sometimes appens in sports, to the enless frustration of coaches, a perior team can outperform s opponent and still lose.

That was the case in rinceton High's 1-0 loss onday to the Ewing soccer am. The Little Tigers moved e ball well against a Ewing am that was described by its oach as "flat", but never ere able to get the ball past alie Chris Franzoni.

Ewing scored with 3:45 left the game when Jack Nash ot his first varsity goal. PHS alie Sandy Howell, who was standout throughout the game, had tripped going after a pass inside the penalty area. Arriving at the same time, Nash kept his balance and guided the ball past two PHS defenders for the score.

PHS left with an 8-6-1 record. Ewing, savoring its fourth win in a row, went above .500 for the first time with a 6-5-4 mark.

PHS IS SECOND

In CVC County Meet. Princeton High School finished second to Hopewell Valley Saturday in the Colonial Valley Conference cross country championship race held at Washington Crossing Park.

The Little Tigers' John Kellog was second with a 16:39 clocking, beating Geoff Noden of Hopewell Valley, who was favored. Noden finished third at 16:51. Larry Szmutko of St. Anthony won the individual title with a time of 16:11.

Bill Ogilvie of PHS was sixth, Robert Wayland tenth, Brad Ogilvie and Steve Doig 14th and 15th for coach Larry Ivan's squad, which had a 47-point team total. Hopewell won with 44 points.

HUN EDGED 2-1

In Soccer. It was a familiar story for the Hun School soccer team last week. It outshot Girard, 29-16, but still lost, 2-1, in a league contest.

In fact, according to research by the Hun scorekeeper, Hun has outshot its opponents in every game except the 4-2 loss to Lawrenceville but the won-lost ledger has Hun with a 3-9-1 record.

Against Girard, Hun scored with two minutes left when Bob Innocenzi converted a pass from John Muscente. All of Hun's other shots on goal were either over the top or wide of the post.

"That's the one thing I've been pleased with," commented first-year coach Jack Huckel. "You figure a 3-9-1 team would be dragging but everyone had kept his spirit and enthusiasm."

Hun has three games left. Wednesday it will be at Newark Academy--a 2-1 conqueror of Lawrenceville--and on Friday it will be at Friends Central. Hun is 2-2-1 in league play and still has an outside chance for league honors despite its poor overall record.

PeeWee Hockey Openings

The Nassau Hockey League will begin its 12th season Sunday, November 20, and still has some openings for boys aged 6-14 in both its senior and junior divisions, especially those who are interested in playing goalie.

Beginners are welcome and will play in the junior division with players of their own age and ability. Older and more experienced players will be placed in the senior division. The league offers instructional skating, intramural team competition, as well as outside contests with other leagues on an "all-star" basis.

Ice time for seniors is scheduled on Saturday mornings from 8 to 10:45 and for all-star and juniro players from 9 to 12:45 Sunday mornings. Those interested should contact Arthur Schwartz, 737-0827, 737-1224, or Pim Goodbody, 737-0810, 737-0864.

REGATTA SATURDAY

For Lasers. The annual Touchdown Bowl Regatta for Lasers will be held Saturday by the Carnegie Sailing Club. Skippers will meet a half-hour before the races start at 10.

The race fee of $3 includes beer and soda. For more information, call John Henderson, 452-8403.

In last week's races on Carnegie Lake, Bob Holzman finished first in the Laser races, followed by Rick Ober and Peter Grosz. The Sunfish results had Walt Gibson on top, followed by Dick Jesser and Bruce Cleveland.

APPOINTMENT MADE

At Hun School. Kathryn M. Otero has been named Assistant Director of Athletics at The Hun School. She will assist Athletic Director David Leete in the administration of the athletic program at Hun.

Kathryn M. Otero

A member of the Hun faculty for four years, Miss Otero will continue to coach girls' varsity field hockey, basketball and softball, and to teach health and physical education. She holds a master's degree from Trenton State College.

The Peugeot 604 gives you the engineering of a Mercedes-Benz, the handling of a BMW, the elegance of a Jaguar, and a level of comfort superior to all of them.

Like its illustrious competition, the Peugeot 604 has a responsive six-cylinder engine (ours is a V-6), fully independent suspension, power assisted steering (ours is rack and pinion), four-wheel power disc brakes, air conditioning, power windows, distinguished styling, and meticulous attention to detail.

But unlike all of them, the Peugeot 604 has been engineered for a superior level of comfort. With oversized shock absorbers patented by Peugeot. With large coil springs and long vertical wheel travel to keep the car from practically ever bottoming out. With a "floating" differential and a steel torque tube enclosing the drive shaft to reduce noise and vibration — a major source of passenger fatigue. And with seats that are actually tuned to the suspension system.

But comfort isn't the only thing separating the 604 from its competition. There's also the price, which starts at around $11,000 P.O.E.* And that may be its most comforting feature of all.

No one builds cars the way Peugeot builds cars.
